LONDON SPURS MOBILIZATION; HITLER SEEKS RED ARMY AID

Busy Factory Uses Tent As Plant 'Addition'

—News-Journal Photo.

No, this isn't a circus picture. It's a view of one of the two huge tents erected by the Martin Steel Products company at their plant on Longview avenue to provide shelter for workmen engaged in manufacturing 5,900 steel corn cribs for the U. S. government. The first of the cribs, now being completed as part of a $626,000 contract with the government are to be shipped next week to Minnesota and Illinois. In the foreground workmen are erecting a new one-story plant addition which, when completed next week will provide approximately 9,000 additional feet of floor space.

BERLIN—Adolf Hitler was reported today to be ready to play a Russian trump card in an effort to convince the Poles they should come to Berlin and negotiate.

The Russian councillor of embassy called at the foreign office while hints were spread that unless Poland bows to pressure being put upon her, Hitler intends to announce some degree of military co-operation with the Soviets.

Should Hitler win Stalin over to assist actively Germany militarily, Poland would find herself in a highly precarious position.

Further mobilization orders in Poland yesterday were interpreted by the Berlin government as the answer to efforts to bring Poland to negotiate. Astonishment over the Polish move was professed in informed quarters which spoke about the possible military co-operation with Russia.

Prepare Latest Answer.

Meanwhile Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop were preparing an answer to ques-

Britain Orders Fleet, Army to Full Strength

3,000,000 Women, Children, Invalids To Be Evacuated From England's Cities; Berlin, Paris, Warsaw And Rome Also Complete Preparation For Strife.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—All telephone service between London and the continent was abruptly suspended tonight. Only official calls were accepted. British officials refused to explain the move. Shortly afterward it was announced that all incoming and outgoing telephone and wireless communications would be censored.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK—(UP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph company announced that only official government calls were being accepted between the United States and Europe after 2:15 p. m. today.

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(UP)—Competent German quarters described Britain's mobilization order today as a definite aggravation of the situation.

By WEBB MILLER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON—Great Britain announced tonight that she had decided on complete mobilization of her vast naval, regular army and air power against the threat of a new European war.

The government's portentous decision—announced in an official communique at Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's residence at No. 10 Downing street—increased the strain of Europe's war of nerves to an almost unbearable pitch.

Already 12,000,000 men were under arms and massed on the continental frontiers, the great British war fleet was strung out in battle array across the North Sea and orders had been given to evacuate 3,000,000 helpless persons, children, women and invalids, from England's cities to the countryside starting tomorrow.

The text of today's communique said:

"In continuation of measures already adopted, it has been decided on complete naval mobilization, and to call up the remainder of the regular army reserve and supplementary reserve.

More to Be Called.

"A further number of the Royal Air Force volunteer reserves will also be called up. Officers and men should await further instructions which will be made public immediately by each of the three service departments."

In Berlin, in Paris, in Rome, in Warsaw similar and almost complete preparations for war had been made as the deadlock between Germany and Poland tightened until it seemed to some observers that it might soon surge beyond hope of further diplomatic maneuvers.

The possibility of further exchanges between Great Britain and Adolf Hitler continued open, but in the German capital high Nazi sources said that the positions of

Gun Fails to Scare Woman, Bandit Flees

Restaurant Hold-Up Foiled When Wife of Owner Seeks to Question Gunman; Police Jail Ex-Inmate Four Hours Later.

The wife of a tavern keeper who failed to become excited when a gunman flashed his pistol menacingly and ordered five persons to "keep quiet" foiled a bandit in his attempt last night to rob a Bowman street establishment.

When the gunman ordered Fred Barabani and his wife and three customers to "Keep quiet and no one will get hurt," Mrs. Barabani strode out from behind the counter.

"Wait a minute. I want to talk to you," she said calmly.

The bandit, however, ran from the front door and fled east along the Erie railroad tracks failing to loot the establishment or bother the patrons.

An accurate description of the bandit given by Mrs. Barabani led police on a four-hour search of the north end where they found a 24-year-old paroled inmate of the Ohio state reformatory in bed. A loaded pistol was found in the room, officers said.

Arraigned in municipal court this morning, Gilbert W. McElroy, 84 Orchard street, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to rob and was bound over to the grand jury under $2,500 bond.

Reformatory records showed that McElroy was paroled April 1 after serving nearly two years of a one to 20 year sentence imposed in April, 1936, by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston on a charge of rape.

BLECKER TO RUN

Petitions Circulated Seeking to Nominate Him for Judge.

Petitions were being circulated today by Democratic party workers for the nomination of Atty. George H. Blecker for judge of municipal court.

Approximately 250 signatures are required on the nominating petitions for municipal judges. The figure is based on one per cent of the total vote cast for governor at the last general election in Mansfield and Madison township, election officials said. The nominating petitions must be filed with the election board by Sept. 8.

Blecker, who was county prosecutor from 1925 to 1929 after serving two terms as assistant prosecutor declined to comment on the petitions today. He is at present a member of the Ohio racing commission and its former chairman.

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, a Republican, seeking his second four-year term, filed his petition bearing 3,000 signatures with the board of elections two weeks ago.

PROXY-SAILED BOAT WINS CUP

Youngster From County Home Pilots Pal's Model to Easy Victory in City Finals.

When Otis Bennett, 11 who lives at the Richland County Children's Home, got a chance to go to New York state to visit a sister he hadn't seen for a long time, he was a happy youngster.

And when he comes back, he's going to find some more happiness.

He's going to learn that the model sailboat he built won the city championship at North Lake yesterday afternoon sailed by proxy.

Otis got a chance last Tuesday to go to New York with an older brother to visit his sister. Before he went, he obtained the promise of Robert Bishop, 11, who also lives at the home that he'd sail the boat in the championship race.

Robert kept his word, and was on hand at North Lake promptly yesterday. He slipped the Bennett boat—2½ feet long and nine inches wide, with a single sail, into the water along with the five other models competing for the city championship, in a contest sponsored by the WPA recreation division.

And as a proxy skipper Robert did right well, and Otis probably will be about as proud of him as he will be of the boat itself. For the boat, primed by the proxy skipper, sailed right

PAY HIKE DRAWS OFFICE SEEKERS

Increases Expected to Result in Flood of Candidates in 18 Richland Townships.

Pay increases for township trustees and clerks, effective Saturday, were providing a drawing card today for candidates for rural offices in Richland county. Thirty office seekers have filed their nominating petitions with the county election board to date. Nineteen of the petitions were submitted by trustee and clerk candidates who will receive the increased pay after Jan. 1 if they are elected in November. The new pay schedule will begin Saturday for trustees and clerks already holding office.

Among the candidates was Bert Fix of Shelby who filed for Sharon township clerk, a post he has held for 28 years.

Township trustees, who are paid by the day, will receive $100 increases under the new schedule approved by the last general assembly. Their salaries will be increased from a maximum of $250 a year to $350. Clerks who now receive $250 may receive as high as $600 under the new schedule, depending upon their activities and expenditures.

One trustee and the clerk will be elected this fall in each of the county's 18 township and the bigger pay scale is expected to swamp the election board with nominat-

CLOSE CROSSING

Pennsy Starts Work Today on East Fourth.

With the Orange street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad opened to traffic today workmen moved to East Fourth street to begin reconstruction of that crossing.

Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist said that the crossing will be closed for the next two weeks. Traffic on the street will be detoured over East Fifth street and Park avenue east.

Nist explained the long delay in opening was due to the entire reconstruction of the crossing which will include the laying of new ties and rails as well as the resurfacing of the pavement.

The Orange street crossing was closed for the past two weeks during which a similar project was completed.

Report Germany's Women Try to Stop Nazi Troop Trains

LONDON—(INS)—A sensational story in the London Daily Telegraph, which usually keeps its news on the conservative side, today declared that civilian morale in Germany has been seriously impaired as a result of the last few days' tension and the shortage or foodstuffs and other commodities.

The story, under a Copenhagen dateline, said feverish military preparations and the suppression of important news is causing a recoil in Germany.

Women in Berlin were said to be lying on railroad tracks to prevent the departure of troop trains.

Many arrests have been made by the German secret police in the Rhineland, where mine workers and technical laborers are refusing to work on meager rations, according to the Telegraph.

Unconfirmed reports reached Copenhagen that troops in several German military centers mutinied, the paper asserted.

If There's War, Hitler's 'Lightning Flash' Plan Won't Work, Expert Holds

Mansfield-Born Analyst Asserts U. S. Will Not Remain Neutral.

By JANE WILLIAMS

If there is war in Europe, it will not be a "lightning flash" as Reichfuehrer Hitler hopes, and if it is a long drawn out affair as was the last war, United States will become actively involved; and even if we don't take up arms, we will not remain neutral, because we already have taken sides.

These are the conclusions of Herbert Fraser, professor of economics at Swarthmore college and one of the outstanding analysts of international affairs in this country.

In 1934-35 he was given leave from his duties to serve in the state department as advisor to Cordell Hull and as head analyst of international economics. Fraser is a former Mansfield man who left here 20 years ago and is now visiting his brother, Alex Fraser and family, 34 Brickman avenue. He is returning east after lecturing at Grinnell college, Iowa.

"I had believed up until this minute (pointing to the headlines in yesterday's News-Journal on Hitler's note to Great Britain) that a war would be avoided, but it seems to me now that Hitler's note, which is nothing less than an ultimatum, has closed the doors to a peaceful settlement," he said.

"Hitler is pinning his entire hopes on a swift and sweeping blow, hoping to paralyze his enemies and end the war very quickly. That was what Franco had hoped to do in the Spanish

BREMEN SAILS

German Luxury Liner Sails Home After U. S. Release.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Released by U. S. customs authorities after a two-day inspection which failed to yield any trace or armaments, the $20,000,000 Bremen, pride of the German merchant marine, was speeding across the Atlantic today toward its home port of Bremerhaven.

Capt. William Drechsel, German marine superintendent, ridiculed reports that the Bremen might suddenly veer to a neutral or South American port to be outfitted as a privateer.

Shipping officials generally agreed that the German government would hardly risk a ship of the Bremen's value for auxiliary war duty.

Two British boats, the Aquitania and the Transylvania, departed after the Bremen. The French Normandie remained in port.

PARIS: France, Preparing To 'Face Worst,' Raises War Funds

BULLETIN

PARIS—(AP)—Premier Daladier today summoned the cabinet to an urgent meeting at the Elysee palace at 6 p. m. (noon EST) immediately after a conference with British Ambassador Sir Eric Phipps at the war ministry.

(By International News Service)

PARIS—Mobilization of France's man-power, industry, and wealth swept onward today as Finance Minister Paul Reynaud issued an appeal to the public to subscribe to armament bonds.

"It is absurd," said Reynaud in a message to a nation celebrated for hiding away its savings in "socks," "to hoard money when bonds are as good in time of war as in peace."

Much energy was poured today into an army enlistment campaign in Tunisia—the north African area claimed by Italy—and volunteers were reported to be numerous.

Nine trains were lined up in the Austrelitz station in Paris to evacuate hospital cases.

WASHINGTON: Expect New Peace Plea From Roosevelt Soon

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt was believed ready today to make one more appeal to Europe's leaders to avert war. Some of his chief foreign policy advisers counselled him that a final decision between war and peace is likely to be made before the end of the week.

There were ample indications in official quarters here that this government believes the "zero hour" near at hand. There was a perceptible lessening of optimism as the general nature of yesterday's exchange of messages between Britain and Germany became known here.

Many officials earlier had believed that, since Adolf Hitler's message to England had left the way open for further negotiation, chances of preserving the peace were greatly improved.

However, at that time they had not anticipated that Poland would declare that terms of the fuehrer's proposal were absolutely unacceptable.

Further pessimism developed following Britain's reply, which, it was indicated in official quarters, reiterated the previous Brit-

REISER-STEHLE RITES READ THIS MORNING

Couple Married at St. Paul's Lutheran Church; Taking Wedding Trip to New York World's Fair.

AT 9:30 O'CLOCK this morning Miss Anne Reiser and Carl Stehle were married before the altar of St. Paul's Lutheran church. Preceding the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of the church, Mrs. Gilbert played "I Love You Truly" by Bond, "The Indian Love Call" by Sigmund Romburg and DeKoven's "O Promise Me." Other organ selections were Lohengrin's and Mendelssohn's wedding marches and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," played during the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a gown of white Chantillay lace, made with a semi-formal train. The only decorations on the dress were two pearl clips at the sweetheart neckline. A pearl juliet cap held the bride's two-tier veil, worn virgin style, in place. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and gyphsophila. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Reiser, Ashland road, was given in marriage by her father.

Attended By Sister.

Mrs. Matthias Fisher was her sister's only attendant. She wore a rose coral taffeta gown fashioned with a very full, semi-hooped skirt. Cyclamen bows and sash trimmed the dress, and with it Mrs. Fisher wore a cyclamen velvet bonnet, decorated with tiny ostrich plumes. Her colonial bouquet was of Talisman roses.

Carl Erre was Mr. Stehle's best man. Philip Stehle and Joseph Stehle served as ushers for the ceremony, which was performed before an altar banked with two beauty baskets and altar vases of garden flowers, palms and ferns and lighted by two seven-branch candelabra. The bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stehle, 192 Wayne street, gave his bride a tiny gold locket, which was the only jewelry she wore for her wedding.

Go to New York.

A wedding dinner was served to approximately 40 guests this noon in the pavilion at Johns park. Later this afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Stehle left on a wedding trip, which will take them to the New York fair. For traveling the bride wore a black and white costume suit with black accessories. After Sept. 10, the couple will reside at 159 South Adams street.

Mrs. Stehle, who is a graduate of Madison high school, has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Stehle attended Mansfield Senior high school and is now affiliated with the Siegenthaler shoe store.

Rita Newton Honored With Farewell Dinner

Mrs. John Newton, 106 West Fourth street, gave a dinner party in honor of her daughter, Rita Jane, yesterday evening. The affair was held at the home of the honoree's grandfather, John Gerhart, 12 Pleasant avenue.

Dinner was served to the guests at 8.30 o'clock. The long table was centered with a bouquet of summer flowers and decorated with pink and blue appointments. The group spent the evening socially.

Miss Newton will leave Mansfield next Monday to go to Akron, where she will enter nurses' training at the St. Thomas hospital.

Bride-Elect Visits In Canada

MISS GEORGIANN DEMETRA LOGAS, above, is now in Toronto, Ont., with her father, James G. Logas, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Stratas. Mr. and Mrs. Logas, 326 Bowman street, recently announced the engagement of their daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Stratas' son, Jack. Although the exact date of the wedding has not yet been decided, a Grecian ceremony will be performed when the couple is married, because both the Logas and Stratas families came to America from Greece.

Many Weddings Scheduled For The Coming Week

IT LOOKS as though Dan Cupid will be extremely busy tying nuptial knots these next few days, as many young Mansfield women have seemed to find the holiday week-end and the week following suitable days for weddings.

In fact two brides of this very day are Miss Mabel Elizabeth Berry and Mrs. Carl Stehle. Miss Berry is being married to Neil Robert Swank of Shelby at 4 o'clock this afternoon before the altar of the First Lutheran church in that city. Mrs. Stehle was Miss Anne Reiser before her marriage at St. Paul's Lutheran church this morning.

Early Saturday morning, a quiet ceremony at the United Presbyterian church will unite Miss Elizabeth Anderson and Ellsworth C. Donnan in marriage. Rev. Henry H. Ford will read the service at 8 o'clock.

The First Lutheran parsonage in Loudonville will be the scene of the wedding of Miss Helen Baker and Allen Balliett. The ceremony will be performed at 2:30 p. m. Sunday before members of the immediate families and friends of the couple.

At the same hour on this day, a garden wedding will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Robinson in Fredericktown to unite in marriage Miss Bessie Faye Crosby and Emil R. Boliantz. Sunday will also be the wedding day of Miss Florence Hardy and Henry Schmahl, whose nuptials are being read at the Grace Gospel tabernacle.

Miss Virginia Leight has chosen next Tuesday as the day for her wedding to George Call of Tiffin. Rev. M. G. Nicola will officiate at the closed church ceremony at Grace Episcopal.

As a finale for the first week of September, there will also be two weddings next Saturday. Miss Anne Contracieri and Paul B. Dune will exchange their nuptial vows at St. Peter's Catholic church at 10 a. m., while Miss Ruth Bohland will go to Akron to become the bride of Henry Schlayer at the First Presbyterian church.

Executive Board Formulates Plans For Next Meeting

Plans were formulated for the coming year when 16 members of the executive board of the Business and Professional Women's Club had a dinner meeting last evening at the Evergreens restaurant. Mrs. Marvel Cowell, president of the organization, was in charge of the session.

It was announced that the first regular meeting of the club will be on Sept. 13 with a dinner in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Miss Pearl Danback will be the program chairman at that time, and she will show a series of motion pictures, illustrating her recent travels in Europe and America. Miss Esther Dunham, Miss Ida Willis and Mrs. Mildred Perry are the members of Miss Danback's committee.

Miss Maude Vail, Miss Florence Lentzy, Miss Mabel Charles and Miss Jeannette Hoffman have been named to serve on the hospitality committee for this meeting. Miss Minnie Laudon will give a report on the biennial convention of the Business and Professional Women's Club, which was held recently in Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Helen Dickson will present several vocal selections.

FETE MISS ANDERSON WITH LINEN SHOWER

Miss Doris Betz Entertains at Her Home on Atcheson Avenue for Bride-Elect of Ellsworth C. Donnan.

MISS ELIZABETH ANDERSON was honored with a linen shower, given by Miss Doris Betz at her home on Atcheson avenue yesterday evening. Miss Anderson is the bride-elect of Ellsworth C. Donnan.

The guests in attendance played games and contests during the evening, and prizes were won by the Misses Elizabeth Cole and Evadene Barber and Mrs. R. D. Anderson, mother of the honoree.

When refreshments were served following the games, the long table was lighted with yellow and lavender candles, and there was a miniature rose bowl at each of the guests' places. There were also packages at each place, which when opened were gifts for a sewing basket. These were accompanied by appropriate limericks. Miss Anderson then received a shower of linen gifts from the guests, and the hostess presented her with a luncheon set.

Another in the series of prenuptial parties for Miss Anderson is being given tonight by Miss Jane Tapper, 149 Helen avenue. Mrs. L. K. Lamb of Cleveland and Mrs. A. H. Efird will be the associate hostesses at this affair.

—When Crossing The Street

There's no need to grab your girl by the arm and shove her across the street.

Helping a girl across the street still is done in the politest circles. But there are good ways and bad ways to do it.

To begin with, it's best for you to let the girl slip her hand through the crook of your elbow. That puts you in the position of leading—not following—her. But if she hesitates to take the cue, you may slip your hand under her elbow—a signal for her to bend it so you can help her.

There's one thing she shouldn't do—and that is ignore your signal.

"Tell her to make it easy for us, won't you?" pleads one Manhattan beau. "A man feels awfully foolish when he tries to help a girl—and she simply lets her arm dangle like a piece of dead flesh.

"Ask her to bend her elbow—so we won't have to grab her by the arm."

Loop-Leading Hens Invade Fairground Tonight

IN THE Ruhl Book

OFFICIAL SCORERS HAVE THEIR TROUBLES, TOO; HERE ARE EXAMPLES:

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

MANY things occur in a ball game that the rule books do not cover.

Problems to stump the official scorers arise in virtually every ball game, and, on many occasions, it is necessary to apply to the minor league scoring bureau in Durham, N. C., for rulings.

Here are just a few of the problems which make scorer's grey hair greyer and bald heads balder:

QUESTION—What is the scoring rule when batter is banished from the game with two strikes on him, the substitute batter coming in and missing the third strike?

ANSWER — Score strikeout against first batter, the banished player in this particular instance. When second batter comes in with less than two strikes, or, in any case, in which he does not strike out, charge (or credit) second batter.

Q—Runner on third tags on fly ball and runs home. Throw to plate has him beat, but catcher drops the ball.

A—Error for the catcher. NOT a sacrifice.

Q—On delayed double steal attempt, catcher throws to third baseman, who throws to second baseman, who throws back to the catcher, retiring no one

A—Double steal, regardless of any delay involved by getting either man or both in a "chase," providing runners beat throws to each base safely and no error occurs.

Q—Men on first and second. Batter hits to shortstop, who flips ball to second for force-out. Runner from first bowls into second baseman, knocking him off balance. Man from second has rounded third and goes home to score before second baseman can collect himself and throw home.

A—If runner from second had already rounded third and did not slow up in doing so, score RUN BATTED IN. Otherwise, score "while defensive man fell down."

Q—Batter hits to right field for two bases, fails to touch first. Ball is thrown to first and batter is called out.

A—NOT a hit. The batter did not reach first base safely.

Q—With men on first and second, batter bunts to pitcher, who looks at third, sees no play, looks at second, sees no play, and then throws to first, runner beating throw.

A—NOT a hit. Just a fielder's choice. In this case, it also appears to be a sacrifice.

Q—Coach at third causes pitcher to fall for an old "sucker" gag of "throw that ball here and let me see it," and then jumps out of the way when ball is thrown, runners advancing as a result.

A—Simply an ERROR on the pitcher.

Q—Bases full, one out. Left fielder traps a fly in short left, forces runner at third. Man on third who had tagged up, scores.

A—Not a caught fly or a dropped fly ball, thus, NOT a sacrifice. But score a run batted in.

Giants Dazzle Stars

Pros Hang Up Three Field Goals to Trim Collegians, 9-0, in Chicago.

By STEVE SNIDER

CHICAGO —(U P)— New York's football Giants put the kick back in football today after a dazzling display of the game's fundamental art which humbled the collegiate All-Stars at Soldier Field last night, 9 to 0

Five times the champions of the National Professional league refused to gamble with touchdowns and took the safe, unspectacular method — the field goal. Three times they were successful and all the passing and open-field running of the best college players in the nation couldn't overcome the nine point lead.

An Object Lesson.

It was an object lesson for the collegians. Coaches from every section of the nation, assembled for the first major game of the 1939 season, went away shaking their heads at the uncanny accuracy of New York's Ward Cuff and Ken Strong, who booted those three goals.

The contest was less than five minutes old when the Giants surprised both the All-Stars and the crowd of 81,456 who jammed into Soldier Field as Cuff dropped back to the All-Stars' 45 yard line and attempted his first placement. It was wide, but a few moments later, the red shirted professional hammered to the All-Stars' 27 and this time Cuff couldn't miss.

In the second period, Tuffy Leemans led a 57-yard drive to the All-Stars' 16 and Coach Steve Owen promptly sent in Strong to kick a field goal. He split the uprights from 22 yards out.

Strong, out of the National league for the last three years, because of a suspension for deserting to another pro league, applied the clincher in the fourth period with a looping kick from the 41 yard line.

Little Davey O'Brien, the grinning hero of Texas Christian, completed only one pass, and that was questionable. It came on the last play of the first half, good for nine yards, to Roland (Waddy) Young of Oklahoma, who fell on his face as he carried the ball and apparently dropped it The officials ruled it a completed pass.

Held On Ground.

The heralded running ability of Dartmouth's Bob MacLeod, Howie Weiss of Wisconsin, Vic Battori of California and Johnny Pingel, Michigan State, failed to appear.

Only two of the touted backs—Billy Patterson, Baylor's great passer, and Big Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross fullback, produced as expected, although the All-Stars made 10 first downs to nine for the Giants.

DI MAGGIO'S REVIVED BAT LEADS BLUES TO VICTORY

(By United Press)

Thanks to the revived bat of Vince DiMaggio and the return to form of Pitcher Joe Vance, the Kansas City Blues rode along on a comfortable three-game margin in the American association today.

DiMag slammed his 42nd circuit clout of the season with two mates aboard, knocked out two singles and stole two bases while Vance was holding the Louisville Colonels to three runs on nine hits last night as the Blues won, 8 to 3.

Veteran Lyons Can Still Win In American Loop

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

CHICAGO—(U P)—Chicago is willing to concede that Boston still has a pretty good pitcher in Lefty Grove but reserves for itself the grey-beard pitching championship of the majors.

The Windy City offers on the north side Ol' Grandpappy Charlie Root of the Cubs, 40 years old and still going strong, and on the south side Ol' Mutton Chops Ted Lyons, of the White Sox, who's flagging it on down to his 39th mile post.

Root is the daddy of all active major leaguers, and is far from washed up. Only a few days ago the Cubs moved into Philadelphia and tossed Bill Lee and Claude Passeau, the club's two top pitchers, at the Phillies and both were licked. The next day Root put the Phils in their place.

Lyons, as big a favorite on the south side as Root is at Wrigley Field, has been one of the unluckiest players in the majors. He never has played a professional ball game for any club but the White Sox, and he's put in 17 seasons with them. The tough part is that he's never been with a winner.

Throwing his knuckler in brilliant fashion yesterday, Lyons pitched a four-hit game and his 11th victory as the White Sox knocked off Washington 5 to 2.

Washington gained an even break by winning the second game, 4-3, when Joe Krakuskas held the White Sox to seven hits.

The Yankees lost the second game of their final western trip last night when the Indians took a 4-3 decision from the Bronx Bombers before 35,000 at Cleveland's municipal stadium. Lefty Gomez walked the tying run across in the ninth and Ken Keltner's third hit drove Ben Chapman home with the winning run in the tenth.

The Athletics scored a double triumph over the Browns, 9-8 and 2-0. How the Browns lost the first game is hard to understand. They had an 8-0 lead going into the seventh when the A's slammed over nine runs. Hayes and Chapman hit homers for the A's. Lynn Nelson held the Browns to eight hits to win his ninth game in the nightcap which was called at the end of the seventh because of darkness.

A three-run rally in the eighth enabled Detroit to come from behind and beat the Red Sox, 7-6. Williams, Tabor and Berg hit homers for the Red Sox, while Averill hit one for the Tigers.

All National league clubs were rained out.

CABS' GAME CANCELLED, HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

Their contest with the Stanley Shoes at Oberlin called off tonight, the DeLuxe Cabs began preparing today to entertain the J-H Grills of Massillon in the Darby Yarmon benefit athletic program at the Fairground Sunday. Business Manager John Villella announced today that all DeLuxe players are requested to meet at the Beeber-Ross restaurant at 7:30 p. m. today. A softball tournament in Oberlin caused postponement of tonight's game.

PRO GOLFERS INVADE PICARD'S HOME COURSE

HERSHEY, Pa.—(AP)— The moneymen of golf were here today to beard the lion in his den. On the last leg of the summer tour a field of 114, made up largely of the game's best, started over the groomed home grounds of the season's top money winner, P. G. A. titlist Henry Picard, for a crack at the $5,000 stakes in the seventh annual Hershey open

At the head of the pack of Picard's challengers was open champ Byron Nelson of nearby Reading Country club, who fought it out with Picard in the P. G. A. finals.

Canton Clinches Mid-Atlantic Title

CANTON—(AP)—The Mid-Atlantic league pennant was tucked away by Canton today, to the surprise of no one. The Terriers have been on top the heap since June 18 and the way they sped down the trail convinced one and all that it'd take more than any other team had to catch them.

They applied the clincher last night with a double-barreled victody over second-place Akron. 7 to 2 and 13 to L. Their margin stood at 10 and one-half games.

WALTERS, MOORE FACE BOSTON BEES TODAY

BOSTON—(AP)—Rained out for two successive days, the Cincinnati Reds today were primed for a twin bill with the Boston Bees, the latest club to upset the hopes of the second-place Cardinals.

Bucky Walters has a perfect record against the Stengel men thus far and he was assigned to pitch in the curtain raiser. Whitey Moore, with 12 wins to his credit, drew the chores for the nightcap.

200 DOGS EXPECTED

KENTON—(U.P.)—Two hundred of the finest hunting dogs in the country will probably be entered in the 13th annual national leafy oak coondog field trials to be held here Labor day, according to Col. H. City Merchants Hosts to Fans

Braves' Bad Start Enables Lima to Triumph, 6 to 4, But Stovermen Lose Little Ground.

MANSFIELD is still in the dark depths of the Ohio State league basement today, a game and a half behind the Lima Pandas and six and a half in the rear of the front-running Tiffin Mudhens.

The Braves were offered an opportunity to do something about the Lima advantage in the Pandas' city last night, but they dropped a 6 to 4 decision.

Large Crowd Looms.

Tonight the Braves will have a chance to reduce the lead now held by the Tiffin Mudhens when they come to the Fairground for the second Merchants' Night game of the season which should attract one of the largest crowds of the campaign. The game is billed at 8:30 p. m.

Bob Schremser is expected to get the call to oppose the Mudhens, who took an 8 to 7 licking from Fostoria last night.

Leon Maloney toiled on the hillock for the Braves last night, and he might have come through with a victory had he been able to get by the first few innings.

Lima tallied a run in the first, two in the second and another in the third to take a 4 to 0 lead

The Braves, led by Charley Wrenn, who obtained three singles, tallied three times in the fifth and sent another run across in the sixth to knot the score.

Deadlock Shortlived.

But the deadlock was shortlived, the Pandas tallied another run in the last half of the inning to take an advantage that was never threatened.

Maloney gave the Pandas 11 hits, the same number they secured off the delivery of Evans, and struck out six and issued only one walk.

TIGERS, ARISTOCRATS BATTLE TO 1-1 TIE

The Corner Tigers and the Aristocrats battled to a 1 to 1 deadlock in a softball setto at Taylor Dise field yesterday. Darkness halted the game at the end of the fifth frame. Harner, who scattered four hits to the Aristocrats, struck out 14 and gave up two walks Richardson hit a triple and double for the losers.

Al Milnar Allows New York Only Four Hits Before Retiring for Pinch Hitter In Ninth.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The world champion Yankees are vulnerable at night, but the Indians play their best ball under the lights, Cleveland fans decided today.

Prompting the decision was the Redskins' 4 to 3 victory over the New York Yankees last night, the Tribe's sixth triumph in eight night games.

The Indians won the contest in the tenth inning on Ken Keltner's sharp single off Relief Pitcher Johnny Murphy. Lefty Gomez, the Yankee starting pitcher, retired in the ninth after allowing the third and deadlocking run.

Two Runs Unearned.

Al Milnar opened on the mound for Cleveland and allowed only four hits before retiring for a pinch hitter in the ninth. Two of New York's three tallies were unearned, depriving him of a victory in regulation distance. Harry Eisenstat pitched the tenth and received credit for the decision.

Cleveland scored two runs in the fourth on Ben Chapman's single and Hal Trosky's 23rd home run of the season. The tally in the ninth came on singles by Jeff Heath and Keltner, Ray Mack's sacrifice fly and a walk to Pinch Hitter Oscar Grimes. Walks to Chapman and Heath set the stage for Keltner's winning blow in the extra inning.

The Yankees scored single runs in the first, seventh and eighth. The initial tally came on Red Rolfe's infield hit and Joe DiMaggio's double; the second on a walk, an error, a sacrifice and a wild pitch, and the last on Bruce Campbell's three-base error on Rolfe's drive and a single by Charley Keller.

Bob Feller will go after his 20th victory in the second and final game of the series tomorrow. Monte Pearson is due for New York.

Sets New Record.

In a speed meter test before the game, Pitcher Atley Donald of the Yankees threw a baseball at the rate of 139 feet per second, or 94.7 miles per hour. His throw was the fastest ever recorded on the meter.

In 1917 Christy Mathewson was clocked at 134 feet in a test by a ballistics measuring device in an arms laboratory at Bridgeport, N. Y.

The Tigers scored in all but the opening period as they handed the Panthers a 24 to 12 drubbing in a Friendly House "touch" football league game at Columbia Tire field yesterday. The winners topped their scoring with a pair of touchdowns in the third quarter.

INDIANS WALLOP STARS IN JUNIOR LOOP GAME

The Indians tripped the Stars, 8 to 2, in a Friendly House junior league game yesterday at Columbia Tire field. Packard, the Indians' hurler, limited the losers to one hit, a single by Truly. The winners scored twice in the second frame to take the lead.

PLAY FINALS TODAY

Finals in The News-Journal tournament women's singles will be played at 5:30 p. m. today at the Woodlawn court with Mrs. W. O. Campbell meeting Anne Arron.

RECORD FIELD BATTLE IN PRESIDENT'S MATCH

CAMP PERRY—(AP)—Service pistols of 45 caliber boomed today across Camp Perry's national match ranges as the big gunners battled through five events, but heaviest interest at the annual cartridge carnival hinged on the final stage of a 30-caliber rifle event started yesterday — the president's match.

Darkness caught the 2,019 rifle men before they could complete the shoot yesterday, the field being the greatest in the history of the matches.

STOPS KLASSEN

KENNY LASALLE WINS

ATLANTA, Ga. — Kenny LaSalle, 146½, Atlanta, outpointed Battling Burroughs, 152½, Pascagoula, Miss., (10).

San Diego 5, Sacramento 1.

They're Aiming at National League Pennant

Using bats, these St. Louis Cardinals are aiming at the National league pennant. Left to right, the sluggers are Don Padgett, Joe Medwick, Enos Slaughter, Johnny Mize and Pepper Martin.

Stages Final Ohio Meeting

Beulah Park Launches Fall Running Races Saturday.

COLUMBUS — With all stable accommodations exhausted, Beulah Park will usher in its 19-day fall meeting Saturday. It will be the final meeting of the year for runners in Ohio.

The feature of the first day's card is the Inaugural Handicap at six furlongs. This event is expected to draw a select field that probably will include many of the following: Queen Clarice, Whistling Dick, Nancy Sue, Squads Right, Young Ebony, Gin Fritters, Gay Jay, High One, Distract, Darby Dean and Franks Boy.

Thomas C. Bradley will return as presiding steward. Associate stewards will be Owen E. Pons and E. W. (Ted) Stribling. W. C. Daly will dispatch the fields from a Waite gate.

TOM MANNING FAVORED IN GOVERNOR'S STAKE

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The Governor's stake, top race of the week's harness events at the Ohio state fair, attracted six three-year-old starters today with Tom Manning, owned by Will Hughes, Cleveland, as the avorite.

Mary M, owned by Mike McDevitt, Cleveland, captured the featured Director of Agriculture trophy on Wednesday's program after a thrilling duel with Milestone from the stable of Wayne Smart, Delaware.

PILOTS TWO WINNERS

SYRACUSE — (INS)—The name of the veteran driver, Dr. Hugh Parshall, was recorded today twice among the winners in yesterday's Grand Circuit harness racing at the New York state fair. He drove Clever Hanover to victory in the state fair trot and then repeated with Her Ladyship in the Onondaga Hotel pace.

BRITAIN ORDERS FLEET, ARMY TO FULL STRENGTH

London to Evacuate 3,000,000 Women, Children From Cities In Face of War.

both sides seemed to have been made clear and that the Nazi fuehrer might decide that another diplomatic message was unnecessary or futile.

Whether that meant that action would be Hitler's next move—some Berlin observers said Friday was being persistently mentioned as a grave day of decision—was not indicated.

But in any event the deadlock had been growing tighter and tighter all week and repeated messages shuttling back and forth from Berlin to London had seemed on the surface merely to have made the hope of an agreement less bright than ever.

Hitler had declared and repeated his determination to return the free city of Danzig and the Polish corridor to Germany. Poland had reiterated her determination to fight such moves as a threat to her independence.

Great Britain and France, confident of aid from Turkey and hopeful that Spain and Japan might now be neutral in a new war, had stood firmly behind their pledges to aid Poland.

Soviet Boasts Forces.

Soviet Russia tightened her army regulations to bring another 500,000 men under arms—boosting an armed force already estimated at 2,500,000 men — strengthened her European frontier defenses and summoned the supreme Soviet (parliament) into session to decide on ratification of the new non-aggression pact with Germany.

Italy, listed as the first target of a mighty British-French attack if war comes, worked furiously to prevent a final showdown that would mean a new conflagration far more disastrous than Europe's World war.

Thus, the dramatic and almost ultimate decision by Great Britain to complete mobilization of her fighting forces fell like a climatic hammer blow in the war of nerves inaugurated by Hitler and taken up with redoubled fury by his potential foes.

See Order 'Timed.'

Formal mobilization orders have not been a part of the totalitarian technique of a "white" or "nerve" war and the British announcement appeared to have been timed to exert the greatest possible influence on the balance toward peace at the very moment Pope Pius was issuing a new appeal to the big powers to avoid war.

The pope's appeal was handed to the Vatican City envoys of Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Poland by Cardinal Maglione, the papal secretary of state.

The pope appealed to the big powers that they work for peace so that "Christian reason may prevail."

Great Britain's preparations, including closure of the stock exchange until Monday if not longer, were carried out with a great burst of speed. The admiralty ordered two classes of the fleet to proceed to their stations without awaiting individual summons.

This was the ninth day of a situation which had put upwards of 12,000,000 men under arms in Europe.

In the note to which Britain has now replied, Hitler had advanced new arguments why he must have his demands satisfied. Verbally, to Sir Nevile Henderson, the British ambassador at Berlin, he had invited a Polish plenipotentiary to go to Berlin forthwith to negotiate on his terms.

It was understood today that, on instructions from London, Henderson responded even before the British reply was sent that Britain regarded this invitation simply as a method of underlining the urgency Germany attributed to a swift settlement of its dispute with Poland, and said that Britain shared Germany's sense of urgency. But there, apparently, the matter ended. Instead of transmitting the invitation to Poland, the British foreign office merely notified Poland of it for the purpose of information.

The new British note was said in reliable quarters here to be unyielding as regards Germany's demands, and to urge again the usefulness of direct Polish-German negotiations on a footing of equality.

The note was understood to have said that Poland had been advised of Hitler's desire for direct negotiations and that Poland has been asked for her comment. It was represented as saying that both the procedure in negotiations, and the program of topics to be discussed, could be decided only in consultation with Poland.

EXPERT SEES NO 'LIGHTNING' WAR

Civil war, and he had everything on which to base his hopes—trained men, supplies, and aid from the outside. Yet look how long war dragged on even after the government forces were pushed to the wall and apparently had nothing.

"One can only guess at the outcome of any war, but if there is one and it extends over a year or two, the advantages will all be with the allied states—and the longer it goes on the more certain it is that America will join forces with Great Britain and France. And our so-called neutrality stand, whatever it is, will have little to do with it. If we take part in another European war, it will be because we want to, because it's policy, because we won't pay the economic penalty of staying out of it.

"Even the people who talk of strict neutrality, don't want to accept the price of such a policy—closed factories and depression.

"And, furthermore," he continued, "when we talk of 'neutrality' we really mean non-involvement, and there is no such thing. If we clamped down on the sale and shipment of all munitions and war supplies, as specified in our present neutrality laws, we would be playing directly into the hands of Germany, and if we adopted the president's recommendation of a 'cash and carry' plan of selling munitions to all belligerents, we are aiding only the allies because the English navy will make it impossible for Germany to come after supplies.

"And our present neutrality laws," Fraser contends, "do not place an embargo on food and cotton—two of the most important supplies for war."

He pointed out what he considers probably the weakest point in the present neutrality laws.

"If we insist on an embargo on all war supplies and munitions in this country, the manufacturers will merely move across the Great Lakes, set up factories in Canada, employ Canadian labor, and ship to the war zones from there—leaving American labor and business to pay the price."

Fraser said he doubted if there was an individual in the United States today who is strictly neutral, because he says, everyone has already taken sides in the European controversy, the great majority siding—perhaps only mentally—with Great Britain and France.

"What will be the result of another war? The same thing, practically, that happened during the World war—or any war. Inflation, business booming, and afterward, deflation, depression, and then a period of re-adjustment."

Fraser doesn't believe that the present crisis is "exactly like" that of a year ago.

"The great difference is that Chamberlain then had some faith in the word of Adolf Hitler. Now he has none. Chamberlain's appeasement policy might have saved Europe if Hitler hadn't been a liar."

And a year ago, he pointed out, England had signed no agreement or pact to back Czechoslovakia, as it has this time with Poland.

This is Fraser's first Mansfield visit of any length for three years. He is accompanied by his wife and daughter. Mrs. Fraser was formerly Miss Mabel Ward of Mansfield.

NAVY'S 'RED RIPPERS' STEAL SHOW AT TESTS FOR AIR RACES

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND—The "Red Rippers" of the U. S. navy stole the spotlight today in preliminaries to the national air races next week-end at the Cleveland airport.

The crack squadron of fighting planes from the U. S. S. Ranger at Norfolk, Va., was scheduled to plunge their speedy Grumman planes in power dives over the downtown lakefront in an exhibition of fighting maneuvers under the direction of Lieut. Commander A. K. Morehouse.

When Roger Wolfe Kahn, chief timer, set up his equipment for today's tests, only three of the 10 entries had qualified for the Thompson trophy race. This means the following seven pilots must qualify by tomorrow night's deadline:

Earl H. Ortman, Los Angeles; S. J. Wittman, Oshkosh, Wis.; Arthur C. Chester, Los Angeles; Harry H. Crosby, Los Angeles; Robert Bean, Los Angeles; George Byars, Van Nuys, Calif., and Lee Williams, Los Angeles.

Col. Roscoe C. Turner, present champion; Lieut. Joseph Mackey, Findlay, O., and Tony Levier, Los Angeles; were the three who qualified earlier.

All the above except Bean were at the airport today. His delegation, bringing the plane across the country on a trailer, was expected momentarily.

ing petitions before the filing deadline Sept. 8.

Included in the township candidates who had filed today were 11 for trustee and eight for clerk. There were two others for constable and the county school board and a slate of eight candidate for Shiloh village offices, all eight listed in the same petition.

The latest filings include G. C. Swanger, Bloominggrove township trustee; A. Hitchman, clerk, and John Long, trustee, Worthington township; Arthur Adams, trustee, and Bernard Wagoner, clerk, Cass township; Homer Bard and V. H. Walker, trustee, and O. H. Schraedly, clerk, Springfield township; Bert Fix, clerk, and John P. Finnegan, trustee, Sharon township; H. A. Voegele and Riblet Glauer, trustee, Sandusky township; Hilas Jenney, clerk, Bloominggrove township; S. H. Peterson, clerk, Perry township, and James H. Rhine, clerk, Plymouth.

The Democratic slate filed for Shiloh village offices included Paul Ruckman, for mayor; L. J. Guthrie, treasurer; M. C. Guthrie, marshal; Paul F. Rader, E. C. Geissinger, G. G. Russell and Coyne Swanger for council, and Ami Jacobs, board of public affairs.

GATES GUARDED

85 Go Back To Work In Strike-Bound Sandusky Plant.

SANDUSKY—(AP)—A score of police and deputy sheriffs guarded the entrance of the Barr Rubber Products plants today to permit workers to enter despite a strike called by the United Rubber workers. They said more than 85 employes went to work through a picket line of approximately 30.

The plant, closed by a strike for nine weeks, reopened yesterday. Hearings for two persons arrested in a disturbance yesterday were postponed until Saturday.

THEATERS

SOMEBODY'S going to be mad, but whether it's Henry Ford, or the professors at Foster university, Pittsburgh, hasn't been decided yet. This is the way of it: Darryl Zanuck is going to make a picture based on the life of Stephan Foster, great composer of folk songs. It will be called "Swanee River." Some years ago Henry Ford purchased the alleged Foster birthplace in Pittsburgh and had it carried stone by stone to his historical village at Dearborn. Research men for Zanuck went to Foster university where the professors said the house at Dearborn was not Foster's, that he wasn't born in it and probably never saw it—despite the sign over the house which proclaims it the actual birth home. If Zanuck copies the house for his picture, the professors will be mad; if he doesn't Ford will be mad. The question is—which will be the maddest?

A Torchy Adventure.

The Madison theater will abandon its double feature program tomorrow night and will show only one picture in connection with Bank Night. "Torchy Plays With Dynamite" is booked for tomorrow only. This is something of a startling change in itself for this series of pictures, which has heretofore been the exclusive property of Glenda Farrell, the girl reporter, and Barton MacLane, her dumb friend, now has a new cast. Jane Wyman and Allen Jenkins have replaced the originals in the series. This time Torchy goes after her man and her story to distant places.

Montana Contributes Lana.

Lana Turner is one of the newcomers in pictures who may have a chance to stay. In the four pictures in which she has played major roles, she has made a favorable impression. She was born in Wallace, Idaho, and her first ambitions were for a dancing career. She danced in public when she was three years old, so that she was accustomed to appearing before the public, although she had never played a dramatic role in her life, when she was spotted in a Hollywood cafe by a trade paper publisher. Her latest picture is "These Glamour Girls" with Lew Ayers, which is current at the Ohio.

"Winner Take All."

The joyous Gambinis come back to the Ritz screen for Friday and Saturday in "Winner Take All." Tony Martin is seen as a Montana cowboy, down on his luck in New York, and when he can't pay his dinner check, he gets a job washing dishes in Papa Gambini's kitchen. Gloria Stuart is a girl reporter and Henry Armetta plays Gambini. Slim Summerville and Kane Richmond are also in the cast. William Boyd in another Hopalong Cassidy adventure, "Renegade Trail," is also scheduled for the last two days.

"Escape By Night."

When a young, unemployed miner hits New York, he lands right in a mess of excitement with his first experience. He rescues a girl from kidnapers, takes her home, and therebye falls in with a bunch of murderous thugs. The story and action move on to a farm house which provides a hide-out for the gang, and here they meet another girl and her blind father and regeneration moves in on most of the gang. William Hall, Steffi Duna and Anne Nagel head the cast. Also on the Park screen is "Trapped In the Sky" with Jack Holt.

Examine this table. It shows that $1.12 weekly ($4.46 a month) repays everything on a $100 loan in 30 months. The faster you pay, the less the total cost. These payments are calculated at Household's new reduced rates of 2% monthly on balances up to $300 and 6% yearly on balances over $300 to $500. These rates are less than legal maximum, and are the same to everyone—one price to all. Only borrowers sign—no endorsers on any loan. No credit inquiries of friends or relatives.

GROWING WAR THREATS FORCE STOCKS DOWN

But Business News at Home Keeps Traders From Dumping Securities, Belief.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Wall Street didn't like the looks of the Europen war-peace game today and the stock market took another step downward.

Consoling to analysts, however, was the fact offerings were even lighter than in the preceding listless session. Early losses, running to a point or so, were reduced later, but declines or 2 or 3, came into the list near the fourth hour.

Business news at home remained encouraging and, it was thought, provided the main argument against the dumping of securities at this time.

Confusing the financial picture was the announcement England tomorrow would evacuate some 3,000,000 women, children and invalids from populous centers and, because transportation facilities would be disrupted, the London securities and other exchanges were ordered closed Friday until further notice.

On top of this nerves were taunted by word the British moved toward full mobilization and that the Poles were augmenting their heavy troop concentrations.

Prominent stocks on the offside were Westinghouse, duPont, United Aircraft, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Anaconda and J. I. Case.

Increasing activity in the rail equipment field was seen as a constructive omen. It was noted Delaware & Hudson was inquiring for 1,000 freight cars; Boston & Maine had purchased new locomotives; the N. Y. Central would order 2,000 freight cars from Merchants' Dispatch, controlled by the road; and Chicago & Northwestern was authorized to pay cash for $1,400,000 passenger equipment.

away from its competitors, and finished the 300-yard race with a 50-yard lead.

Bennett in winning the championship race becomes the possesser of a rotating cup on which are engraved names of winners of the six races staged during the summer. Bennett's name is to be engraved on the cup in gold, and the five other names will appear in silver.

The five boats entered in the championship race were winners of five previous races held throughout the summer. Bennett's boat was winner of the second and fourth races. The first race was won by Earl Rudolph of Johns park, third by Russell Boyles of the "Y" and Raymond Wert of Johns park won the fifth and final preliminary staged yesterday preceding the championship race.

Over 40 home-made boats were entered in the fifth race, won by Wert. Second place went to Peter Wert, Raymond's brother, and Richard Cairns placed third. The three boys are all from Johns park.

The series of races were conducted between boys registered at the two city WPA workshops at the Y. M. C. A. and Johns park, and were held under the supervision of Joseph Noser, of the "Y" shop.

VETS DIVIDED

War Referendum, Neutrality Resolutions Up for Vote.

BOSTON—(AP)—Proposals for a war referendum and neutrality legislation found Veterans of Foreign wars divided today as a war-conscious 40th National encampment turned to a stack of resolutions awaiting action.

Many of the proposals struck at aliens and particularly at so-called subversive groups. Pennsylvania called for barring aliens from relief rolls, halting immigration for 10 years, admitting no refugees from any country whatsoever."

Minnesota suggested aliens become citizens within five years or suffer deportation.

The war referendum was favored by Wisconsin delegates except "in case of invasion of any nation in the western hemisphere" but Ohio suggested any congressmen unwilling to shoulder the responsibility of a war declaration should resign.

ish position that the empire would stand squarely behind its pledge to Poland and that no settlement of the German-Polish territorial dispute would be acceptable unless negotiated with Poland on the basis of international equality.

One of the most significant developments in the crisis during the past few days, according to authorities here, was Hitler's establishment of a ministerial-defense council shortly after receipt of the British message.

An apparently heartening development in the situation, however, was the reply of Italian King Victor Emanuel to President Roosevelt's peace appeal of last week, stating that Italy was doing "whatever is possible to bring about a peace with justice."

CITY ERECTS 3 HOMES IN '39 TO EVERY 2 IN '38

Unprecedented Wave of New Building Continues With 155 Started This Year.

In an unprecedented wave of home building, Mansfield has started or completed 155 new dwellings in the first eight months of this year, building permit records at city hall showed today.

Averaging nearly 20 new homes a month, this year's construction program is far ahead of the eight-month total for 1938 and is almost certain to establish an all-time record for the community. At this time last year 102 new homes had been started or completed.

Figures for August which were available today bear out the substantial increase in home building over last year which was considered better than average. Permits for 22 new residences were issued this month as compared with 14 in August, 1938. Valuation of August construction was placed at $109,650. The new homes erected in August last year were valued at $74,200.

August Total $121,000

Total cost of all August building was $121,121, more than $12,000 in excess of the last year figure.

The eight-month total for all types of building in 1939 is even more impressive when compared with the statistics for the same period in 1938, due largely to the erection of two new junior high schools. This total is $1,743,889, nearly $700,000 ahead of the eight-month total for 1938.

These figures include new home construction, remodeling, alterations, additions, business and industrial construction.

The estimated cost of the 155 homes started this year totals $749,400 while the 102 homes launched in the first eight months of 1938 were valued at $614,400.

UNITES FAMILY

Recipe for Prune Beer in Paper Brings Kin Together.

PAICINES, Cal.—(U.P.)—Prune beer reunited a California family that had separated 25 years ago in Germany and had lost all track of each other for the past 12 years.

Edward Klepper of this city had published in a Hollister newspaper a recipe he had prepared for the manufacture of prune beer. The recipe eventually was reprinted in a newspaper at Leipzig, Germany. Friends there who knew Keppler's sister at Milbrae, Cal., sent it to her, only a few hundred miles from here. Her mother also was living with her. She called Edward on the telephone and a quick family reunion occurred and "Prosit" drunk in prune beer.

Is Pigeon Fowl? Mayor Finds So, But Owner Appeals

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Trespassing pigeons are not fowls, contends W. E. Donley, Bexley pigeon fancier, who has presented 66 pages of transcript before the common pleas court here to support his contention.

Mrs. Ethel Young, also of Bexley, had complained to Mayor William Schneider that Donley had violated a Bexley ordinance which fixes a fine of $5 to $50 for folks who let their horses, cows, chickens or "any other fowl" to become nuisances on property of others.

Citing Webster's dictionary to prove his point, Donley contended that a pigeon is not a fowl within the meaning of the ordinance but Mayor Schneider overruled his objections and fined him $10. Donley wants the higher court to pass on the question.

Book of the Week

"DICTATORSHIP: ITS HISTORY AND THEORY," by Alfred Cobban; (Scribners: $3.75).

Although he cannot prove it, Alfred Cobban believes that the dictator, when he pumps his people full of often spurious ideas of their own importance and such, is actually creating a force he cannot possibly control. He says this and much more of great value in a book rather forbiddingly entitled "Dictatorship: Its History and Theory."

He believes that the wars which will grow out of this proceeding will be far worse than those which in the past have been dictated by "simple motives of self-interest." The people who will wage the new wars have been told they are invincible, and they will fight under that concept until they are ruined. "The new wars will be 'total' wars," Says Dr. Cobban, "which require the totalitarian state to prepare for them and to wage them."

Nations cannot be controlled, when in the service of this new religion, any more than whirling dervishes. Dictatorship "has become tied to its wheel, and is whirled onward at a pace it cannot control, through paths it never envisaged, to an end beyond imagination."

This is what Dr. Cobban thinks. But what he knows is a different matter and he acknowledges it like a gentleman, which is so much more than most of our prejudiced and passionate writers do when they reach this point that one more quotation must be made. Says the author:

"All this, of course, is admittedly speculative. In the course of history events are always unique, though patterns may be repeated; and in our age factors which are novel, the consequences of which are as yet unknown, the mere existence of which we ignore, may change drastically the whole trend of events. History is a drama which has no fifth act.

"One thing we can say with assurance. The long peace in the quiet harbors of the past, the cautious coasting from one known point to another known point, is ended."

These wise and tempered words follow a brilliant, often witty, survey of the course of dictatorship through the long history of the world. This is distinguished first by Dr. Cobban's knowledge and scholarship, second by his literary style, and third by the fact that he has not allowed racial prejudices to interfere with his judgment. This is perhaps the best book of its sort this reader has found.—By J. S.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Adventure with a touch of mystery awaits the boys who read the two new books chosen for this week's display. One story is placed in the Blue Ridge mountains of our own country, but the scene of the other shifts from Cleveland to the west coast, to South America and back to New York.

"RIVER RISING" by Herbert Skidmore—York Allen was determined to become a doctor and in order to earn the money to start his training he undertook to teach school in a mountain lumber camp. The fact that the boys who did not favor the opening of school had burned the schoolhouse before the teacher arived, did not postpone the first day's classes. The drama of floating the logs on the small stream flooded by the first thaw is intensified by the teacher's discovery that some of the markings on the logs had been changed by two men with intent to steal.

"GIVE A MAN A HORSE" by Charles J. Finger — Bob Honore was convinced that he did not like office work but wished for a horse, adventures, and a chance to see places. He was sent West to fill an order destined for South America. Then he was chosen to accompany the shipment. Further wanderings took him to Patagonia where he and his native friend tamed wild horses for their own and found quantities of gold which they did not care to pick up or even to locate for others afterward.

BOARD AWARDS TAXI CONTRACT

DeLuxe Company to Transport 40 Handicapped Pupils in 1939-40 School Year.

The DeLuxe Cab company was awarded a contract last night by the Mansfield board of education for transporting handicapped pupils to special schools in the city during the 1939-40 term.

The contract involves approximately $2,500 for the transportation of about 40 children from their homes to the school and return.

Meeting in special session, the board let the contract on the De Luxe company's low bid of 15½ cents per pupil per trip in the city. The figure is one-half cent higher than the same company charged last year, but the firm agreed to boost its liability protection for children from $5,000 and $10,000 last year to $25,000 and $50,000 at the request of the board.

Cabs carrying one passenger will be insured up to $25,000 in the event of an accident and on these hauling two or more children, the liability will be increased to $50,000.

The DeLuxe company will charge an additional 10 cents per mile one way for trips outside the city and 20 cents for round trips. The extra mileage charge is the same as last year.

The only other bid was submitted by the Service Taxi company which asked 20 cents per trip in the city, four and one-half cents above the winning bid.

Bids submitted by the same companies were rejected two weeks ago by the board when it boosted the liability requirements.

County Gets New Set of Tax Maps, First In 10 Years

Those out-of-date and much-corrected tax maps at the county auditor's office are soon going into the discard.

Lester Stevick, county tax map draughtsman, is at work on new plats, the first in 10 years, which will make it much easier to obtain information about Mansfield and Richland county properties and thoroughfares.

Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said the Mansfield plats will be completed by Nov. 1 and maps for the rest of the county will be ready in six months.

The maps show the location and size of lots, parks and public properties and all streets and roads. The plats will be available to the public at the county auditor's office.

Since the present plats were drawn, new residential districts have been opened in the city, lot numbers have been changed and streets and roads have been widened in a number of sections.

Film to be Shown Garagemen and Automotive Dealers Tonight.

Mansfield district automotive dealers and garagemen will gather at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 9:15 p. m. today, as guests of the National Carbon company for the showing of the first industrial film made by March of Time.

Under the title of "Anti-Freeze —A Story of Scientific Research," the development of automobile protection is traced from its beginning to its present perfected form, in the motion picture. The picture was filmed in the "Prestone" anti-freeze laboratories and plants.

Two other pictures to be shown are "Coming Attractions," which deal with the "Urestone" anti-freeze merchandising for 1939, and "Rip Van Winkle, jr.," a feature starring James Kirkwood.

Germans Seize Danzig Rail Station, Warsaw Charges

CLAIMS SECRET POLICE HOIST NAZI SWASTIKA

Government Spokesman Says No Action Planned 'At the Moment' by Poles.

BULLETIN

WARSAW — (AP) — Polish sources asserted tonight that German patrols had crossed the border into Polish territory at several points. They also asserted that a German bomber had flown over Polish Silesia and had been pursued by Polish planes.

(By United Press)

WARSAW — A government spokesman said today that German secret policemen had occupied the railway station at Danzig last night and had hoisted Swastika flags over it.

Asked whether Poland intended to take action in Danzig as a result, the spokesman said none was planned "at the moment."

The seizure of the station, however, following a long series of anti-Polish and allegedly German-inspired incidents in the Free City, raised the question in the minds of foreign observers as to how far Poland intended letting Danzig authorities go before taking action.

Recalls Earlier Stand.

The customs railroad and port business were the three phases of Danzig's life which Poland always had said it woul never permit the Nazis to dominate. But in the past few days Poland has reported the arrest of Polish customs authorities in Danzig and the seizure of three train loads of materials bound to Poland through the port.

The railway station incident caused foreign observers to wonder just what would happen if Adolf Hitler suddenly were to retreat from his extreme demands and express himself satisdied with Danzig alone.

Although the government has reiterated that it would not permit the union of Danzig with Germany, it was conceded that an awkward situation would arise if Hitler suddenly demanded: "Danzig alone or war."

The Danzig population is more than 90 per cent of German origin: its ruling senate is thoroughly pro-Nazi. It is supposed to be under League of Nations mandate, with Poland administering the port business. But the league representative has left and the pro-Nazi faction is in full control.

However, there appeared to be no possibility that Poland would cede both Danzig and the Polish corridor to Germany, which Hitler has demanded in every message on the crisis.

The government urged the people to keep calm, but admitted that conditions were worse than at any time since the crisis arose last April.

ASKS FOR CASH

County Seeks $55,000 Tax Advance to Meet Bills.

After operating to Sept. 1 without drawing against a future tax settlement, Richland county finally had to ask for a $55,000 advance today to meet its September bills.

It was the first time in recent years that the county has been able to operate this far into the year without calling for an advance, officials said.

The county's subdivisions are also in better financial condition. Deputy Auditor Arthur S. Beck said, and only Bellville has asked for an advance settlement of property taxes. That village sought $910 today to pay off some street bonds.

3 UNINJURED AS CAR OVERTURNS

Mansfield Auto Skids, Rolls Down Bank Near Mohicanville.

Three young Mansfield people escaped injuries when the car in which they were riding, overturned one mile south of Mohicanville on route 179 at 6.15 p. m. Wednesday.

The car was driven by D. Merritt Caton, 21, of 138 Prospect street, state highway patrolmen said. Riding with Caton were Betty Elizabeth Conboy, 110 Prospect street, and Lucille Patterson, 116 Vennum avenue.

Caton told patrolmen that the car overturned and rolled down a four-foot embankment after skidding on the wet pavement.

READER NAMED

School Board Employs Aid for Handicapped Children.

Miss Mary J. McCormick, 66 Stewart avenue, was employed last night by the Mansfield board of education as a reader in the sight-saving school for handicapped children.

The board also appointed Miss Lois Baughman, 528 South Main street, as teacher for the first semester in the Bowman school to substitute for Miss Josephine McFarland who was granted a leave-of-absence because of illness.

Miss McCormick will succeed Miss Martha Smaltz who resigned to be married.

FETE TONIGHT

Supper and Carnival To Be Held At Liberty Park.

A lawn fete and carnival will be held tonight at Liberty park under the sponsorship of the Liberty Park Civic association. Supper is to be served at 5 p. m. Music for dancing will be furnished by Smart's accordion band, a German band and the Harmonica Serenaders.

Proceeds of the affair will be used to purchase kitchen equipment for the shelter house now under construction at the park, association leaders said.

HITLER SEEKING RED ARMY AID

Chancellor Expected to Bare Military Alliance as Move to Force Polish Surrender.

tions raised in the British message handed to Von Ribbentrop early today by Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador.

The British note, foreign office quarters said, was not in the nature of a reply to the latest German memorandum. Rather, they said, it asked several elucidating questions which the fuehrer now is answering.

Von Ribbentrop was understood to have given Sir Nevile an oral indication of what the German answers would be during their 45-minute interview early today. Von Ribbentrop took the British questions to Hitler as soon as the British ambassador had gone.

The attitude in government quarters today was that the general crisis situation had not changed since yesterday and that "it all depends on Poland."

Albert Forster, the Danzig Nazi district leader, conferred with Hitler yesterday, but returned immediately to Danzig. Closest secrecy was maintained about the free city leader's visit.

Form Defense Council.

A six-man supreme defense council, headed by Air Minister Hermann Goering, took control of German economics, military policy and government administrative machinery today in a step which emphasized a darkening turn in the Polish-German dispute.

The order of virtual general mobilization in Poland yesterday was considered here to have caused the eastern European situation to take a dangerous step toward a showdown. The move aroused indignation in Berlin.

Shortly before midnight the cabinet announced from the chancellery that the "special council for defense of the realm" was being established "for the duration of the present foreign political tension."

Today, with the latest secret note of Great Britain in the hands of the German government, Sir Nevile Henderson, the British ambassador, was closeted twice during the morning with the Italian ambassador, Bernardo Attolico.

Presumably Attolico went to the British embassy to inform himself of the nature of the British note, British sources said.

In addition to Field Marshal Goering, who made an impressive record of achievement by carrying out Germany's four-year economic plan, the members of the defense council are:

Rudolf Hess, deputy of Hitler and powerful figure in the Nazi party.

Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, who controls the police organization of the reich, including Heinrich Himmler's secret service.

Chief of High Command.

Wilhelm Keitel: war veteran, general and chief of the high command of the German army.

Walther Funk: Minister of economics and president of the Reichsbank who is driving the German economic machine even harder than his predecessor, Hjalmar Schacht.

Hans-Heinrich Lammers, chief of Hitler's chancellery.

Soon after announcement of formation of the council a government spokesman disclosed that Albert Forster, Nazi district leader in Danzig and newly-created Danzig chief of state, had arrived in Berlin and it was assumed he had come for another important conference with Hitler.

Italy Puts Army In Charge of 2 Commands.

ROME—(AP)—Division of the Italian army into two parts, respectively commanded by Crown Prince Umberto and Marshal Rodolfo Graziani was announced today.

No explanation was given for the brief order made known over the air to Italians.

Umberto has been inspector of infantry and a member of the army general staff. Graziani, next to Marshal Pietro Badoglio, was Italy's principal Ethiopian war commander and succeeded Badoglio as viceroy of Ethiopia.

Foreign observers saw no reason for the unusual division of forces unless it were in obedience to some war plan known only to the high command.

One interpretation offered, however, was that assigning half the army command to Prince Umberto was to enlist definitely the royal family in whatever military action may fall on Italy in her alliance with Germany.

As Galion Held Community Picnic

—News-Journal Photos.

Galion staged a picnic yesterday for all the town folks and it drew more than 1,500 persons to Heise park. In the top photo is a group of children happy over the prospects of impending call of "dinner time." At the right is Mary Jane West, 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant West, who was declared winner of the baby show contest. The baby is being held by her mother.

100 VETERAN GOLFERS ON HAND AS OHIO SENIOR TOURNEY OPENS

With approximately 100 golfers present—all of them 50 or over—the Ohio Senior Golf association's annual tournament was under way at Westbrook Country club today, and the defending champion was again showing the way.

He was D. E. Carey of Zanesville, who won the event last year and who shot an 80 for his first 18 holes today, seven strokes better than any other golfer in the field had been able to do up to 1:30 p. m. today.

Carey, playing in Class E, for golfers between 55 and 60, shot two 40's for his 80, which seems likely to withstand the day's onslaught.

Closest to Carey was Alex Turner of Newark, also in Class E, who shot a 44-43—87. H. B. Hunt, Coshocton, in Class D (60-65), had a 47-43—90 for third low net for the first 18. He was a stroke ahead of E. J. Brookhart, Celina, Class E, who had 48-43—91.

Mansfielders were not faring too well on the opening day. Harry S. Black had a 58-53—111 in Class C (70-75), and W. M. Weldon, in the same class, had a 58-54—112. L. W. Olsen, in Class D, shot a 46-46—92.

The tournament comes to a close tomorrow when the final 18 holes are to be played

GERTIE GOES TO THE FAIR AND HAS AN AWFUL TIME WITH MERT

(By Associated Press)

(Editor's Note — The 89th Ohio state fair was a memorable occasion for Gertrude, but let her tell why.)

COLUMBUS—I locate Merton in the real estate building up to his hip pockets in chicken farm bargains, and am I burning. You told me women and children got in free, I complain.

That was last year, chirps the smart farm salesman, afraid Merton will lose his buying mood if he refunds my check.

Just look at this place, Gert, he says changing the subject by holding up a photograph. For $500 and your car as down payment we can move right out to the acres and start raising chickens soon as we're married.

Oh, there's only one tower by the barn, I moan and it just has to be twins.

What would we do with twin silos on a chicken farm? Merton asks. They're awfully expensive and we'll only have a cow or two.

I don't see what cows have to do with towers, so I remind Merton how he said the fair would convince me farm life is the essence.

I want to see those Rhode Island Reds we're going to raise, says I, but thinking I'd rather see the Cincinnati Reds.

So we saunter over to the poultry building, which is noisier than Sally's Thursday bridge sessions.

Merton says it won't be like that on our farm though, but how he's going to gag those roosters beats me.

Then we tour the grounds, taking in all the concessions and winding up in those smelly livestock barns.

But the calves are cute and the way those girls function in the milking contest make it look easy.

Merton says I won't have any trouble learning to milk, which puzzles me 'cause I'm not planning to enter any milking contest.

And that's when I, suddenly realize my dogs are barkin' fierce and my stomach cryin' for more than chewin' gum.

Steak, I yell. I want a steak. I'm stravin'!

Mert looks sort of surprised and what does he do? Drags me to the farm machinery show! But on my empty stomach and falling arches I'm in no mood to hear how easy tractors run or that those wagons with the lawn mower effect at the back now spread it faster and farther than ever.

Without another word I take off Mert tags along pleading but I climb into a taxi, ease out of my shoes and head for a spot with venetian blinds.

Believe me, I'm cured of farm life. Soon as my feet are in shape to jitter bug again, I'm going to slip them into a new pair of two-tone hose and phone that cute salesman who has the same hobby as Mert—chickens.

KILLED IN FOG CRASH

MEDINA—(UP)—Donald Eberhardt, 21, Medina, was killed instantly today when his car collided with a truck on route 18 in a fog.

DIES AT AGE 47

Herman Weiland, Packing Co. Employe, Succumbs.

Herman N. Weiland, 47, of 605 Scholl road, a resident of Mansfield for the last 16 years, died in General hospital yesterday afternoon after a short illness.

Born in Butler county, Pennsylvania, April 26 1892, Mr. Weiland came to Mansfield from Youngstown. He was employed at the W. A. Kearns Packing company since he came to this city.

He was a member of St. Peter's Catholic church and a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus.

Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth; five sons, John, Carl, Lloyd, Herman B. and Albert Weiland; two sisters, Mrs. W. A. Kearns of Mansfield and Mrs. Edward Goff of Marion, Ind.; a half-brother, George Fisher of Butler, Pa., and four grandchildren.

The body will be removed from the Geiger funeral home to the residence this afternoon. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Saturday at St. Peter's church with Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

FLIERS CONTEST WINNERS CHOSEN

Two Awarded Pair of Tickets Each to National Air Races.

Two winners were named today in the famous fliers contest which appeared in last Saturday's issue of the News-Journal in conjunction with the National Air Races to be held this week-end in Cleveland.

Winners are Wendell Bell, 6 Stoodt avenue, and Howard Hanes, 267 West Fifth street, both of Mansfield. Each will receive one pair of tickets to the National Air Races. Tickets can be had by calling at the News-Journal office.

Contestants were required to give the names of 12 famous fliers whose pictures appeared in Saturday's paper, and to write a 50-word essay on "Why I Would Like to Attend the National Air Races."

EAGLES TO JOIN IN CELEBRATION

Sends Delegation to Marion to Honor National President.

Mansfield aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will send a delegation of members to Marion, Sunday, Sept. 17, to take part in a homecoming celebration to be held there that day in honor of John A. Abel of Marion, new president of the order.

Abel was elected to the highest office in Eagledom at the national convention in Chicago, Aug. 20.

A special bus has been chartered to take the Mansfield delegation which will march in the parade.

GALION CIVIC PICNIC DRAWS CROWD OF 1,500

Baby Show Feature Attraction of Community Event; Contests Held for Children.

GALION — While threatening clouds in the middle of the afternoon caused crowds to dwindle at Galion's first big Community picnic, Wednesday at Heise park, fair weather brought the evening's attendance up and around 1,500 were on hand for the activities under the lights at the park.

The supper hour crowd was increased over the afternoon's attendance and many picnickers brought their lunches to the grove, besides the hundreds who patronized the Ladies' Auxiliary of Good Samaritan hospital board who served a cafeteria supper. The Kiwanis club was served a dinner.

School Team Wins.

Climaxing the day's events, the North Electric and Galion high school baseball teams played under the lights with the score, 3 to 1, in favor of the high school. The game was preceded with tugs-of-war with the following results: Polk township team won from the Galion Iron Works; Jefferson township won from the Polk township team; Perfection Vault team won from the Galion Iron Works; and the Jefferson township team won from the Perfection.

The afternoon program got underway with a horseshoe round-robin under the direction of Rev. W. N. Robertson. First prize went to Ernest Pry, Galion's champion player who had 411 points, 211 ringers and 70 doubles. Second place was won by D. Roop with 264 points, 143 ringers and 34 doubles; and third prize was taken by Engelhorn who had 263 points; 152 ringers and 34 doubles.

Stunts and novelty races during the afternoon were won as follows: sack races, Joseph Jack, Robert Pugh and Eugene Jack; 25-yard dash for girls, Gwen Pettus; 50-yard dash, Waldene Rhoades; special race for boys under 10 years, Arthur Wenninger; girls' race under 10 years, Dorothy Pugh.

20-Year-Old Model Named 'Miss Ohio' At Marion Contest

Winning over 25 other beauty queens, including Miss Charlotte Brightbill of Mansfield, Miss Jean Soboda, 20-year-old brunet model from Cleveland, had been chosen today as "Miss Ohio" to represent the Buckeye state in the "Miss America" contest in Atlantic City next month.

Miss Beverly Woodsworth, 21, of Ashland, a runner-up in the contest at Marion last night, will be one of the two alternates. The other is Miss Dolly Donovan, 18, who competed as "Miss Medina."

Miss Woodsworth won the right to compete in the state contest by taking first honors in a beauty contest at Seccaium park near Bucyrus several weeks ago.

Miss Brightbill, Mansfield's entry in the "Miss Ohio" contest, was one of the three girls selected to ride in the float with last year's "Miss America" in the parade last evening. She was offered the chance last night to make a "talent tour" with other entries in the state contest but said today she had not decided whether she will accept.

The new "Miss Ohio," a professional model is five feet, seven inches tall and weighs 117 pounds.

Miss Maxine Drumm, Bucyrus, had been chosen previously as "Miss Eastern Ohio" to compete in the national beauty contest at Atlantic City.

CAB COMPANY OWNER FINED

Pleads Guilty to Having Improper Governor on Taxi.

Arraigned before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court this morning, Emil Sziraki, manager of the Yellow Stripe Cab company, pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a taxicab with an improper governor and was fined $15 and costs.

Sziraki was arrested yesterday on a warrant filed by Patrolman C. W. Kyler who said he inspected one of the firm's taxicabs and found it capable of speed greater than the 45-mile-an-hour limit allowed by city ordinance.

The driver of the taxicab, Joseph Mayer, 274 Wood street, yesterday forfeited a bond of $16.30 when he failed to appear in court to answer a similar charge.

STATE ACTS TO BUILD TWO NEW RICHLAND SPANS

Narrow Bridges on Route 13 to Be Replaced at Cost of $24,000.

The state highway department this fall will eliminate two narrow bridges on route 13 south of Bellville at a cost of approximately $24,000, Murray D. Shaffer, Ashland division state highway engineer, said today.

Bids on construction of the bridges will be opened Sept. 8 and 9 by the highway department along with bids on 20 other projects throughout the state.

Plans call for construction of concrete structures with a 30-foot roadway and the paved approaches to the bridges.

Scene of Accidents.

A number of accidents have occurred at the bridges in recent years because they are safe only for one-lane traffic, Shaffer said

The state highway department also is planning to erect a cement bridge on route 39 near Perrysville to replace one which collapsed seevral months ago, killing a Mansfield youth, the division engineer said.

A temporary structure was completed recently and it probably will serve until a more permanent span is built next spring, Shaffer said.

ENDS 1852 RUN

ALTON, Ill.—(U P)—The Alton-Springfield local freight train of the Alton railroad, which started operating in 1852, has made its last run. Reason given for the discontinuance was decline of business at way points.

11 SETS OF BROTHERS HELP PUT 'Y' SUMMER PROGRAM 'OVER TOP'

Brothers have played a major part in the summer Y. M. C. A. program which closes Friday, Donald Cram, "Y" physical director, said today.

In all, 22 brothers, 11 sets, have taken part in the "Y" program during the past three months.

Seven sets are included in the 30 boys registered at the "Y" day camp, and the other four pairs have been enrolled in various other activities.

Brothers at the day camp are Ted and David Bighs, James and Charles Terry, George and Arthur Zerby, Richard and Donald Au, George and Richard Heitz, Paul and William Ferguson, and Ronald and Carol Matkins. The other four sets are Arthur and Leroy Metcalf, Robert and Russell Boyles, George and Tom McNew, and Albert and William Ellenfield.

A special program Friday will bring activities at the camp to a close for the summer. This marks the second year for the camp on Home road.

PROFITS CITY

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—West coast families are so far from being "down to their last yacht," that the city of Berkeley actually makes a profit out of maintaining a yacht harbor. Receipts last year totaled $17,000 as against $15,000 cost of operation. Some 212 yachts already have moorings there, with 60 applications waiting.

OUTFISHES DAD

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—(U.P.)—The day after Policeman Louis J. Perachi, jr., gave his 12-year-old son a new fishing outfit, the lad caught a 24-inch, three-pound pickerel. The finny prize was 2 inches longer than Perachi's own record catch.

GET MORE MILES PER GALLON... MORE FUN PER MILE WITH

Pure Oil's New Solvenized*

TUNE-UP PLAN

New chemical discovery keeps motors running the way they are supposed to run—and at lower cost.... May save $7 to $40

YOU CAN'T PREVENT CARBON in an automobile motor any more than you can prevent soot in a fireplace, but with Pure Oil's New Solvenized Tune-Up Plan you can now go a long way toward preventing its inefficient and costly effects. This basic new Plan will do wonders for a mechanically sound motor.

The Pure Oil Plan is an entirely new and proved system of cleansing your motor of excess carbon, and keeping it that way. The details of this plan, developed after years of research in the Pure Oil laboratories, are described at the right.

Claims Up to 3 More Miles Per Gallon

This new idea has already been proved out by motorists in 25 states.

One man who really watches the pennies says it is giving him 2¾ more miles per gallon. Others claim up to 3 more miles per gallon.

Many big companies which operate fleets of cars, trucks and taxicabs and whose gasoline bills run up into the thousands of dollars, have tested it out, kept accurate records, then have adopted it wholeheartedly.

May Reveal Hidden Defects

The Solvenized Tune-Up Treatment, by cleaning your motor, may bring to light some minor mechanical defect which needs the attention of a garage man or mechanic. Such defects, promptly taken care of, may prevent a ruined motor or save you expensive repairs.

At Pure Oil Stations Only

A valve and carbon job costs anywhere from $7 to $40. The Pure Oil Solvenized Tune-Up Plan is the next best thing.

The new chemical discovery, Purosol, (Patent applied for,) used in this plan is exclusive. The service is available only at the stations of Your Friendly Neighbor Pure Oil Dealer. Spend half an hour and $1.00 to get rid of that excess carbon, then put your car on Solvenized Pure-Pep, the new and more healthful gasoline diet.

GETS GAS AND OIL CONSUMPTION FOR FLEET OWNER. C. F. Kendall, president, Kendall Distributing Co., Houston, Texas, says, "The mileage on our six trucks ranges from 15,000 to 60,000 miles. The Solvenized Tune-Up Treatment helped us keep cool motors during the extreme summer months and by doing so has cut both our oil and our gasoline consumption, besides giving us the pep and power performance of new trucks."

TWO EASY STEPS

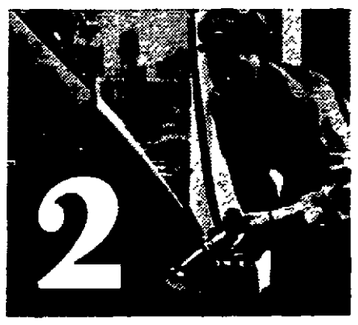
Typical scene at Pure Oil Station these days. Newly discovered solvent (Purosol) run through motor, loosens excess carbon and sends it out the exhaust.

SOLVENIZED TUNE-UP TREATMENT

Purges mechanically sound motors of excess carbon... frees valves and piston rings... increases gasoline mileage... reduces oil consumption.

Done while you wait—Average time required, 30 minutes. Also includes free under-the-hood inspection which may save trouble later.

Money back if not satisfied—and you are the sole judge. $1 PRICE ONLY



SOLVENIZED TUNE-UP GASOLINE

Reduces carbon accumulation—The new Solvenized Pure-Pep motor fuel contains the same solvent used in Tune-Up Treatment. It thereby reduces further carbon deposits.

Cleansing and lubricating effect on valves—pistons and piston rings.

Helps keep gas lines clean—Constantly cleansing effect on gas lines, fuel pump, carburetor and entire fuel system.

Gives More Miles per gallon—Quick starting, good acceleration and plenty of power.

PRICE—NOW SAME AS REGULAR

(Previously sold at a premium)

If you have respect for your automobile... if you get more fun out of snappy performance... if you want to protect your investment... and if you want to save money... then this brand new motoring idea is for you.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 31, 1939.

Young Democrats in Virginia say there's nothing personal in their resolution condemning a third term—so no offense should be taken.

Word comes that a tribe of people in New Guinea have been out of touch with civilization for 25 years—so they may be quite happy.

Mansfield's Unfinished Business

REPORT of the Tuesday evening "freak" storm, coupled with Mayor Hunter's announcement of need for additional expenditures at the sewage disposal plant, again directs attention to these items of "unfinished business" in Mansfield.

Flood damage has long been common to Mansfield's lower sections, with recurrent losses to industries and residents. The Park avenue east underpass is another example of inadequate drainage which has been tolerated too long.

A flood prevention program was seriously entered upon a number of years ago, with considerable expense still being met by taxation, but was never carried to completion.

A bond issue proposal for reconstruction of water and sewer systems was defeated a few weeks ago, but the conditions which justified presentation of this proposal are continuing to grow worse.

It may be doubted if the sewage disposal plant can ever be made to function properly while a large volume of surface drainage, for which it is not intended, is allowed to flow into it.

These are problems which confront officials and residents of Mansfield, and for which some solution must be found if this city is to continue to grow.

Remember, as you start out on a motor trip, your car is no safer than its weakest tire.

Move Toward Recovery

WHATEVER the cause—and there are many ideas about it—business has been going ahead quite encouragingly. It is said to be at the highest level in nearly two years, and still continues upward. Stocks are strong lately in spite of war threats—or possibly because of them.

Explanations differ. Some experts say war preparations have helped to boost orders and prices, and also that there is an underlying strength which makes for progress in spite of war and rumors of war.

How long this trend will last is anybody's guess. Perhaps it depends more on chance, or fate, than on any computable facts. But optimists are saying that we may expect a period of economic recovery lasting "as much as three years."

That very expression seems to indicate a change from the old order, when longer booms were expected between depressions. The business cycle seems to grow shorter. All that practical people can do is to take advantage of these upward trends while they last.

It is interesting to note that ten days of European tension brought almost calm acceptance of a changed Thanksgiving date.

New Coach Has An Idea

SPEAKING before Mansfield civic clubs this week, Paul Snyder, Mansfield high school's new football coach, voiced his interest in extending physical education in the schools to the extent of providing opportunity for all children to participate in some form of sports.

If the program of physical education can be thus broadened, so that its benefits can be enjoyed by children in the grades as well as in high school, public acceptance of this phase of schooling will probably be much more enthusiastic.

Main objection heard to football, as a high school sport, is that it is confined to a relatively small number of boys and that the remainder of the student body are merely onlookers at an exhibition.

Arguments favorable to physical education and health training in childhood and youth are so strong that any extension of beneficial exercise to more boys and girls merits approval and encouragement.

It now appears that Vice President Garner stopped playing poker several years ago—while some others merely wish they had.

Palatial Homes Drug on Market

TYPICAL of the times is the offer of Samuel Untermyer, wealthy New York lawyer, to give his estate, "Greystone," to the city of Yonkers on condition that the city shall keep it up.

There's the question. Maintenance of the property as a public park will cost at least $100,000 a year. The owner has probably put about $2,000,000 into it from first to last. And there is probably method in his present philanthropic mood. The property is assessed at $835,000. A reasonable assumption is that the owner feels he can no longer afford to pay the taxes and upkeep.

Thousands of properties throughout the United States are in the same predicament, or worse. In the fine residential sections of any large community may be found homes which the owners have deserted, or feel like deserting. These are perhaps the most impressive of depression casualties.

It is natural to wonder, at first, whether such luxurious country or city homes will ever again be built in America, on the scale familiar during the last generation.

When the new homes are seen, many of them still larger and more extravagant than the old ones, the first wonder becomes two others. Will some people really have money enough to maintain these new palaces?

A movement is now on foot to make birthday anniversaries the time for good resolutions, so as not to interfere with observance of New Year's.

Lesson From Holland

A VALUABLE suggestion is contained in information that lifeguards employed on the beaches of Holland make a practice of drinking a glass of milk every hour, to give them greater endurance.

Medical men and dieticians often observe that the per capita consumption of milk in this country—by both children and adults—is far lower than it should be, in the interests of health. Few foods contain as much nutritive value as milk, few are more palatable, and few are less expensive. A national milk consumption double or more that existing today, would result in marked betterment of the average standard of health.

Youth Isn't "The Happiest Time."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WE BLUNDER cruelly, we elders, when we tell the youngsters that they're "having the happiest time of their lives"—and then expect them to caper accordingly. Small wonder they despise our stupidity and resent our lack of sympathy. For youth is not—nor ever was—the happiest time . . . and Modern Youth, despite all its liberty and license, is no exception to the rule.

I've always remembered something I once read in Basil King's "Conquest of Fear." Speaking of the habit of apprehension, which grew upon him in his own adolescence, he said:

"Contrary to what is generally held, I venture to think that youth is not a specially happy period. Because young people rarely voice their troubles, we are likely to think them serene and unafraid. That has not been my experience either with them or of them.

"While it is true that cares of a certain type increase with age, the knowledge of how to deal with them increases or ought to increase in the same progression. With no practical experience to support them, the young are up against the unknown and problematical—occupation, marriage, sexual urge, life in general—around which clings that terror of the dark which frightened them in childhood. Home training, school training, college training, social influences of every kind, throw the emphasis on dangers rather than on securities so that the young life emerges into a haunted world."

There's as true a picture of young bewilderment as ever you'll find. We're apt to think that Junior is an Ungrateful Cub if he isn't content with all the gifts we've heaped upon him . . . all the burdens we've shouldered for him. But we forget that the greatest burden of all lies in Junior, himself . . . in his own ignorance, bewilderment and general immaturity.

The youngster may outdistance every kid in the block in that shining new "heap" Uncle Dan gave him for Christmas . . . BUT HE CAN'T OUTRACE HIS OWN SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS OR ESCAPE HIS OWN FEELING OF INFERIORITY.

He may seem utterly callous to the disapproving paternal eye—BUT INWARDLY HE'S A WRITHING MASS OF RAW PRIDE.

He may have glib comebacks for every adult proof—BUT HE HAS NO ANSWERS FOR HIS OWN WILD DREAMS, HIS OWN VAGUE WONDERS AND DESPAIRS.

Wherever he turns he sees new and appalling mysteries and problems for which he has no answer. Nor are you, in all probability, any great shucks as a guide and comforter. For, chances are, you're as perplexed as he is—as unable to cope with this somersaulting world. You may fondly imagine that your Stiff Front keeps him from suspecting the fact, but don't fool yourself. The youngster's on to you, and probably despises you for your hypocrisy.

No mortal, at any age, can suffer and rebel as keenly as a fifteen-year-old boy or girl. Do not be deceived by their seeming indifference and sophistication. They are in constant dread of their own blunderings—and your ridicule.

Stop posing! If you're wise, you'll let your common confusion be a bond between you. So forget your dignity and can your pomposity. Have the courage to confess that YOU DON'T KNOW . . . the generosity to admit your own blunders . . . the tact to ask the Kid for HIS advice, instead of bludgeoning him with yours.

YOUTH ISN'T THE HAPPIEST TIME . . . IT'S THE TOUGHEST. GIVE THAT TROUBLED KID A HAND. HE NEEDS IT—AND SO DO YOU.

Miss Margaret B. Tinsley was visiting in Atlantic City.

TODAY IN HISTORY

An earthquake at Charleston, South Carolina, on August 31, 1886, killed 41 persons and did $5,000,000 damage.

Timely Editorial

Bad Government Costs.

The mayor of Waterbury, Conn., and three other ringleaders in a conspiracy that stole $3,500,000 from the city, were sentenced Monday to prison terms ranging from seven to 15 years.

They had been rigging contracts and taking illegal fees since 1930.

Americans, Senator Borah once said, are a very patient people to stand for the amount of bad government that is handed them.

There comes a time, though, when their patience with crooks in office is overstrained—and then they rise up and throw the rascals out.

Connecticut Yankees are in this respect much like other Americans.

They can be imposed upon and hoodwinked, for a time, but when their eyes are opened to what is going on, they can get mad enough to do something about it.—Detroit Free Press.

Health And Diet

Role of Health In School Success.

—By DR. CLENDENING

NO CHILD can make proper adjustments in so highly competitive an enterprise as the modern public school if he is handicapped by physical defects.

The first requirement on the health ledger for successful competition in school is to be protected as much as possible from contagious and infectious diseases. For this purpose we have already this week advocated diphtheria, typhoid and smallpox vaccination, and somewhat less strongly advocated whooping cough vaccination.

These precautions, however, by no means exhaust the list of parents' duties. Success and happiness in school depend so much on physical well-being that every child should have a careful general physical examination before school opens.

This applies to the child first entering school, but it should be repeated at least annually. The examination should be made before school opens. If delayed until after school opens, it may interrupt attendance, and this is not fair to the child. Give time to remedy dental, eye and ear defects, and make any necessary adjustments before he goes to class.

Model for Cities.

The New York City health department rule might be taken as a model for other cities. The law of New York requires that every child entering school shall present a health certificate in accordance with the regulations of the department of health and signed by a duly licensed physician.

If any child fails to present this certificate, the parents are duly notified and ten days allowed for its completion. Notice is given that if this is not done, the child will be examined by a medical inspector of the department of health. A detailed description of the defects found and recommendations for their correction are sent to the parents.

In this physical examination the child is weighed and measured and the figures compared with the standard figures for that age.

The heart is carefully examined. Much damage to a slightly-crippled heart in cases where no heart trouble was suspected may be prevented by taking early precautions.

Tuberculosis in the vast majority of cases begins in childhood; the germs lie dormant for years, springing into activity in adult life. Means for detecting this early are known to all medical officers. The annual examination reveals tendencies that can be corrected best in the early stages.

Malnutrition is astonishingly prevalent in beginning school children. This may be due not to insufficient food but to the wrong kind of food. One of the most important services the school doctor can do for a child is to direct the proper foods, those which will bring the best nourishment and nutritional protection.

Eyesight Examined.

The eyesight is examined. Backwardness in school work can be expected if vision is not accurate. And in school for the first time vision is under test. Before the time of books and blackboards the child lives in a world where accurate vision is not demanded.

Hearing is also tested.

Children who experience difficulty in breathing through the nose have careful examinations directed at the adenoids and tonsils.

Dental defects in school children are astonishingly high. A survey in Chicago showed that 96 per cent had dental decay. If, as has been said by a famous doctor, 80 per cent of chronic bad health in children has its origin in the teeth or mouth, the lesson is plain.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Still stunned by the news of Sidney Howard's tragic death while he was spending the summer on his rural Massachusetts estate, Broadway was reflecting what effects this would have on the newly formed and singularly successful Playwrights company which began a year ago and produced such popular dramas as "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" and "No Time for Comedy." Howard was one of the five men who pooled their dramatic and financial interests in a playwrighting-producing venture last summer, and his first contribution was to have been a comedy, "Madame, Will You Walk?" and he was putting finishing touches on a play based on the life of Benjamin Franklin.

Howard was a tall, loose-jointed free-thinker who won the Pulitzer's prize in 1924, and who has participated in the writing of at least 50 plays. He dramatized the novel "Dodsworth" in which Walter Huston starred and which became a great Broadway hit.

HIS dealings with Hollywood and his long association with the theater made him a militant foe of censorship, and at times his outspokenness against various rulings of the Hays office, as regards motion pictures, was sensationally featured in the New York newspapers.

One of the bitterest squabbles with film people and the Hays office came when the Hays office banned "It Can't Happen Here," the Sinclair Lewis novel, as a motion picture. Howard was working on the script in Los Angeles when the ban was announced, and he dropped everything and came to New York in a rage.

I happened to meet him at Grand Central station when he and Mrs. Howard got off the train, and his sizzling appraisal of Mr. Hays' opinions were of a character that could not be printed in family newspapers.

THE object of his anger were those rulings in censorship which to him were ridiculous, and at which he scoffed whenever he had the chance. In the "It Can't Happen Here" script, for instance, he was forbidden to use the word "Fascist," but it was permissible for him to say, "Democracy is no good." Howard always contended that no reactionary school of thought (meaning film censorship) could possibly justify itself and issue such edicts as this.

The playwright had quite a war record, though he never spoke of it, and indeed to see and talk with him left the impression that all his life had been spent at typewriters in the business of dramatizing novels. In the war he was an ambulance driver, and later an aviator, and he is credited with having brought down three planes.

But the moment the war was over he slipped quickly back into the routine of the theater, and a few years later he had three plays running at one time on Broadway.

The baby girl who'll enchant you in "Honeymoon in Blai" is Carolyn Lee. . . . She's different from other four-year-olds who make impressive movie debuts. . . . She's cute and precocious—and she's going home. . . . Her parents signed a one-picture deal for her, no more. . . . And seem to mean it. . . . Wherefore the Chamber of Commerce at Wheeling, W. Va., where Carolyn (Copp) lives, should erect a mounment to them as Practically Unique among Mammas and Papas! Carolyn's father is vice president of a steel company, figures to be the family breadwinner regardless of what critics or public think of Carolyn.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—All who helped prepare Roosevelt's peace appeals agreed that they must be sent, but there was backstage disagreement over the manner of the sending.

The fact that Roosevelt used Western Union to cable Hitler was what left the state department aghast. Ignoring diplomatic routine, the president merely addressed his message to "Adolf Hitler, Berlin, Germany" and signed it "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

There was no way for Hitler or the German government to know whether the cable was bonafide or sent by a crank. Anyone could have faked such a message. In fact, when Roosevelt sent his peace message to Hitler last April, the American embassy in Berlin did not believe for several days that it actually was sent. The telegram had been dispatched through Western Union, and the embassy couldn't believe that the president had used such an unconventional medium.

In the case of last week's first message to Hitler, the White House asked Western Union to notify it when delivery had been effected; and Steve Early, presidential secretary for press relations, waited to get word from the telegraph company before making public the message.

Notification of delivery came at 10:15 p. m. Washington time, which was 4:15 a. m. in Berlin, so that about all the Western Union messenger could have done was to walk up to a guard in front of Hitler's palace and hand him the telegram.

In diplomacy, no attention is paid to messages delivered in this manner, and the state department objected to the White House procedure for that reason. One function of ambassadors is to present telegrams of this kind, thereby guaranteeing their authenticity.

Note—Chief reason for Roosevelt's using ordinary commercial cables was speed. It takes half an hour to code a state department message, another half an hour to decode it, an hour or two for an ambassador to get back from dinner in order to receive the message, and several hours or even half a day for him to arrange an interview with Hitler.

Secret Diplomacy.

MUCH greater pains were taken with Roosevelt's peace message to King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, because in this case he was hoping to drive a wedge into the Rome-Berlin axis.

The president knew that the king and Crown Prince Umberto, together with Generals Badoglio and Balbo, were much opposed to war. So he had Ambassador Phillips deliver the message personally.

Here again, however, there was disapproval in the state department, not regarding the manner of delivery, but the fact that Steve Early immediately published the message to Victor Emmanuel. State department experts, in touch with Italian public opinion, argued that if the message were kept secret the king would have a chance to argue with Mussolini privately.

But with publication of the message, it become apparent to the Italian people that Mussolini was being put on the spot, thus making it far more difficult if not impossible for him to yield to the king.

Note—In the case of Poland where Roosevelt expected a reply (he expected none from Hitler), the state department delivered a copy of the peace message to the Polish embassy in Washington.

White House Conference.

GRAVEST White House press conference in many months was that held just after Roosevelt sent his peace message to Europe. Attended by a record crowd of 200 correspondents who stood in front of his desk, the president carried on a banter with those who had reached the front row.

"Put on your best facial expression," he said with a wink. "You're being photographed."

Behind him were two news photographers, one with a still camera and one with a movie camera. They had been selected by the corps of photographers to represent them and share the plates and films (the entire corps could not be admitted). In fact, admission of even two was unusual, and made this an outstanding conference.

Somebody smiled at the president's remark, and with a twinkle in his eye but a scolding expression, he said, "Look serious." Felix Belair of the New York Times assumed a deeply grave expression, and the president said, "That's perfect, Felix."

The photographers stood behind the president, one on either side. Directly behind him, standing erect with alert eyes, were two secret service operatives. Seated behind him were Steve Early and Charley Michelson. On the couch at his right were Brigadier General Watson, his secretary, and Captain Callahan, his naval aide.

The president was dressed in a seersucker suit with a white shirt and polka-dot tie. The doors of the oval office were thrown open, for the air-conditioning cannot take care of a sudden inflow of 200 persons.

The president began in a low voice by stating he had no "new news." His expression was serious, but he showed no signs of strain or worry. He talked about the gravity of the situation, said he had received no replies to his peace messages.

One question brought a laugh. A newsman said, "What has got to happen over there before you call a special session?" The president clapped his hand to his forehead in mock despair, declared he had previously said all he could say on that subject.

When other questions ran out, Earl Godwin of the Washington Times-Herald proposed that the minutes of the conference include congratulations to Steve Early on his birthday. Steve blushed a deep red, the president laughed heartily, and seconded the suggestion.

As the crowd filed out, photographers came forward to get shots of Roosevelt from front angles. He smoked and chatted with departing members of the corps. Secret service moved the barricade of chairs at the wings of the desk, and prepared for the private conferences which the president was to hold with cabinet officers during the rest of the day.

Canning Time

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE summer kitchen hummed with voices, and I found several members of the family at work there. On one side, the mother and two boys were preparing corn for drying. The lads stripped the long smooth ears out of the husks while their mother cut it off the cob and spread it evenly upon a huge pan with a steam boiler underneath. They told me it would dry a bushel of corn at one time.

At another table two girls in caps and aprons were peeling peaches and packing them into jars. Their fingers flew, as did their tongues and the juicy pink-cheeked fruit made a fine appearance as they coaxed in into the seamy jars which they took out of a handy boiler.

The man of the house, his straw hat pushed back, was packing layers of pickles into a tub, with salt. "I like pickles with my pork in winter time," he said. "She makes 'em in seven days or so, so they're as brittle and fine as you ever ate. They have to be drained and on the last day she heats 'em with sugar and spices—I don't know just how—but I can start 'em for her."

I sniffed. "This kitchen is the best smelling place I've been in for quite awhile," I said. Indeed the combined odors of canning time were delectable. Upon the kitchen table I noticed three boxes of new fruit jars and an array of spices and sugar. New can lids and the paraffin pot were on the kitchen range.

"Come and see our storeroom," the farmer's wife invited.

I followed her into a room at the rear, where upon the earthy shelving floor of a dugout in the hill was an array of canned goods such as one seldom sees.

"There'll be the apple butter yet," she said. "We'll make 20 gallon of that. But here's the peaches and plums and cherries and the blackberries and the raspberries—and part of the jam and jell. I hope to get up 300 cans of tomatoes yet, and some chili sauce and catsup. With eight of us to eat, it takes quite a lot of canned stuff to run us through."

"Your store of food and your ambition do you credit," I said. "When winter comes, if I'm out this way, I'll certainly stop for dinner."

CLINIC TO CURB SUICIDES URGED

Detroit Scientist Believes It Possible to Prevent Self-Destruction.

DETROIT — (U.P.) — Clinics to discourage suicides are the suggestion of a Detroit scientist who has made an intensive study of the subject.

C. H. Nims of Detroit, pointing to a rising trend of suicides, believes it would be possible and feasible to establish on a nation-wide basis clinics for correlation of preventive measures, psychiatric studies, and police, social service, and medical work aimed at reduction of suicide.

Statistics show an annual toll of 20,000 in the United States by self-destruction, with 14.3 persons per 100,000 population taking their lives in 1935, compared with a rate of only 9 per 100,000 ten years earlier. One authority holds that of every 1,000 children, under present conditions 10 boys and 3 girls eventually will kill themselves.

"Activities of clinics would take the form of continued study and research to gathering more practical and usable form all the data relating to suicides and to compile additional data," Nims suggested. "These clinics also should attempt to get in touch with people who are depressed, despondent, or desperate, and through proper psychiatric treatment and analysis help them to correct their troubles."

THEATER GROUP WILL CONTINUE OUTDOOR SHOWS

Fantasy Written by Mansfield Woman to Be Presented by Children Sept. 15.

The Children's Theater and Junior Workshop will give at least one more outdoor performance this fall and possibly two, depending upon the weather, the committee of sponsors announced today.

The next show will be particularly interesting because it was written by a Mansfield young woman who aspires to a career in writing and already has done some distinctly literary things.

On Sept. 15 the two groups will present "The Talking Forest," a fantasy in which the children turn into trees. The play was written by Roselyne Zychick, 206 Gerke avenue, who has taken Rose Lyne for a pen name.

Because this will be the first time that this children's play has been presented, members of the Cleveland Playhouse staff will come to Mansfield to see it. A large cast already is being rehearsed with headquarters at Country Day school.

Plan Fall Program.

The fall program for the Children's Theater and Junior Workshop was planned this week at a meeting of the sponsoring board at the home of Mrs. Robert Beatty. Set up with the aid of Harold McCuen, director of the two groups, it includes a presentation of Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Little Princess" which Shirley Temple recently played in a picture version. This play is planned for the Thanksgiving season.

A "streamline" version of Sidney Carroll's beloved childhood classic, "Alice In Wonderland," also is being considered, as is "Manikin and Minikin." The board hopes to be able to present Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carroll" during the Christmas season.

Harold Mansfield is serving as treasurer for the board. Other members are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Meisse, Harry Lowrey, Mrs. E. C. Thompson, Mrs. Herbert H. Schettler, Mrs. George Kirtley, Mrs. W. J. Bishop, Mrs. John W. Graham, Mrs. Claude V. Marks, Rev. D. N. Roller and Mrs. Edward Gibson.

FUNERAL TODAY

BUCYRUS — Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Henderson and Lutz funeral home for Mrs. Ida Hunter, 71, wife of John W. Hunter, who died in City hospital Tuesday night following an illness of four weeks. Burial was made in Oakwood cemetery.

Surviving with her husband are four children, Harold J., William J. and Mrs. Frank Lyons of Bucyrus and Mrs. George Dick of Dayton. One brother R. Young of Athens county and one sister Mrs. Hattie Hanley of Grahamville, N. Y. and four grandchildren also survive.

STARTS OCT. 1

WILLARD — Work on the Willard swimming pool and park project will not start until Oct. 1, Mayor E. L. Wolf had been informed today.

The project, which is under WPA supervision, must be divided into three parts and re-submitted to WPA engineers for approval, causing the delay in starting the work, the mayor said.

GALION — Mrs. James Bryant and son were dismissed from the Good Samaritan hospital Wednesday morning.

NAME PLATES PASS 4,000 IN MOTORDOM'S CAVALCADE

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — More than 4,000 makes of automobiles have appeared on the markets of the world since France introduced the first in 1868, the Smithsonian Institution reports.

The rapid rise of the industry, as manufacturers of everything from bird cages to guns turned their factories into automobile plants, was attended by sudden ruin for most of them. The course of the industry is reflected in a loan exhibit of the institution prepared by Frank Walker, of Pontiac, Mich. Walker is making a collection of name plates from as many cars as possible. His exhibit consists of the plates he has collected.

The French idea of an automobile propelled by an internal combustion engine had spread to Austria, Great Britain and Italy by 1889, with a general broadening of scope until it reached Belguim, where the industry has seen its greatest development. Two-thirds of the 300 cars on the market in 1875 were extinct within 25 years, however. Spain's first car had a belated appearance, in 1902.

A boom came in 1965 and 1906 when Hungarians, Danes, Russians, Swedes, Austrians and Canadians entered the field. Indications pointed to the industry taking its place as the great industry of the future, causing makers of bicycles, guns, sewing machines, telephones and typewriters to convert their factories into automobile plants.

The result was ruin for many. The market for the relatively crude and expensive machines were restricted to the wealthy and near wealthy. Only those makers with new fundamental ideas to incorporate into their products survived.

The approximate record of the different makes put out follows: United States, 1,550; Great Britain, 610; France, 480; Germany, 240; Italy, 80; Belgium, 70; other countries, 135.

As fine quality salad dressing as you've ever served

ONLY 25¢ A QUART

Please your family—save money, too! The amazing thing about Ann Page is that while it is a top quality salad dressing, superb in flavor, it is priced so much lower than what you've probably been paying for other brands of comparable quality.

Check these points: (1) Ann Page contains more of the fine ingredients that give quality to a dressing. (2) Its flavor is just right, neither too sweet nor too sour. (3) Outsells all other salad dressings and mayonnaise combined in A&P Stores. (4) Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau. (5) Saves you money because it's both made and sold by A&P, thus eliminating many in-between expenses..

SPECIAL OFFER: To introduce you to Ann Page Salad Dressing, we offer a beautiful Beetleware salad serving fork and spoon (10⅞ in. long) for only 25c and the coupon attached to each jar.

WEEP FOR LOVE + + + + +

By RUBY M. AYRES

(Copyright, 1939)

CHAPTER XXIV

The maid brought a jug of iced drink, but Elizabeth took only a sip from her glass and put it down again.

"Is there any news from Miss Thornley?" Mrs. Selby asked her. "Or of Penelope?"

"I had a letter yesterday," Elizabeth answered, but she did not say that there had been no mention of Penelope.

"That sister of yours wants a good shaking," Roy said breezily. "She ought to be made to go out and knock about the world with other people. It would take her mind off her imaginary ills."

Elizabeth flushed

"They're not imaginary," she said sharply.

He shrugged his shoulders.

"Well, it's silly to go on moaning about a thing that can't be helped," he submitted apologetically. "It's hard luck, of course—losing her voice like that, but—"

"It's not only the loss of her voice," Elizabeth interrupted tensely.

There was an uncomfortable silence, until Roy, who was always irrepressible in an argument, murmured something about a man having the right to change his mind if he wished to—and if she was referring to Lawless—

"I am referring to him," Elizabeth answered "He treated Penelope cruelly, and you know he did."

"That's unfair," Barbara protested with heightened color, and Mrs. Selby said soothingly:

"It is quite natural that Elizabeth should defend her sister. I am sure we should all do the same."

"I'm not defending her, Mrs. Selby," Elizabeth said tensely. "I'm accusing him."

Roy laughed, refusing to see her agitation.

"How often does a girl jilt a fellow, I should like to know?" he demanded. "And does she ever get the blame? Not on your life! But if a man dares to change his mind, he's all sorts of cad, and the girl parades a broken heart for the rest of her life! And with all respects to your sister, my lamb, she can't have made his life one glad sweet song. Save me from a girl with the artistic temperament."

Elizabeth faced him with blazing eyes.

"Mr. Lawless treated Penelope abominably," she cried with concentrated passion. "And if you knew the truth—" And then her anger died as suddenly as it had risen, and there was an eloquent silence until she said humbly:

"I'm sorry—I lost my temper. I'm very sorry—I think I'll go and change my frock."

"Frock!" Barbara echoed unkindly, when she had gone.

"She looks topping in trousers, anyway," Roy declared.

But upstairs in her own room Elizabeth made no attempt to change. She just stood by the window staring blindly into the sunlit garden

"I wish I could go home," was the uppermost thought in her mind. "I would go, but he would only think I was running away."

And then, although for the past few weeks she had hardly thought of her mother, she suddenly saw her face, and such a wave of longing swept through her heart that she had to shut her eyes tightly and clench her hands to keep back the traitorous tears—for Elizabeth had not yet forgotten how to weep.

Kim Lawless arrived half an hour before dinner. Elizabeth heard his voice through the quiet evening as she sat curled up in the wide window-seat of the lounge, but she did not raise her eyes or move until Roy, who was with him, said cheerily:

"Here's the old rascal, Elizabeth."

She was forced to look up then and even to smile, and Lawless met her eyes rather grimly, as he said:

"This is indeed an unexpected pleasure. I did not know you would be a fellow guest."

"How do you do," Elizabeth said politely, but she did not offer to shake hands.

"You'd better go and change," Roy was saying. "Dinner in half an hour, and afterwards we're going over to the Beaseley's. You don't know them, do you? They're quite good scouts."

"I can change in ten minutes."

Elizabeth's eyes followed him as he went up the wide staircase, but her heart was beating quite evenly still, and she could think dispassionately, "You look so nice, Kim! I wonder why you did it?"

Penelope had refused all explanation.

"We quarrelled," was all she would say. "And please never speak about him to me again."

But was a quarrel sufficient to separate two people who loved or had loved each other, Elizabeth wondered. Two people who were still husband and wife?

And then a little far-away pain stirred in her heart at the thought of those two being married.

"My wife!" Kim must have said these words—perhaps many times—of Penelope.

"Penny for your thoughts," Roy said suddenly, his eyes dwelling wistfully on her thoughtful face. "I suppose you didn't even know I was anywhere about," he added reproachfully.

She smiled absently.

"I was just—wondering about something," she told him.

"About—what?" he asked. He sat down beside her, as close as he dared.

"I was wondering," she said, and now she spoke flippantly again, "what it must feel like to have been married—and then divorced or separated—and then to come face to face again. Rather a thrill, I should imagine!"

* * *

Roy frowned, for like his mother, though perhaps less consciously, the change in Elizabeth troubled him. She had been so sweet and so very much in earnest about life when he first knew her, but now—although he refused to admit it even to himself—he knew she was growing like "the others," as he vaguely classed those girls who had of late faded so far into the background of his memory.

And this evening for the first time, he asked himself why it should be. And whether there was something about which she was seriously unhappy.

He loved her very sincerely, but his young awkwardness made it difficult for him to approach her in the way he would have wished—or to try to win her confidence.

She was a gay companion, as a rule, ready to laugh with him or to enter into any wild prank he suggested, but if he dared to tread nearer or more intimately, it was as if a flower closed its petals against an intrusive hand.

"Don't you think it must be rather a thrill?" she said again. "Would he call her 'darling' as he must have done once up on a time—or how would they behave?"

Pilot Lands Crippled Airliner, Seven Aboard Safe

BRINGS PLANE DOWN WITH ONE WHEEL BROKEN

1,000 Watch as Flier Circles Port for Two Hours, Then Negotiates Landing.

(By United Press)

BURBANK, Cal.—While a fire truck and an ambulance waited beside the runway, and a crowd of 1,000 gathered to watch, a Western Air Express airliner circled for two hours over Union Air terminal last night with a crippled landing gear.

Finally when the gasoline was about exhausted, Capt. C. G. McKenzie decided to chance a one-wheel landing of his big plane with its load of four passengers and three crew members.

He swooped the two-motored Boeing down onto the grass beside the runway. The crowd held its breath, and then cheered as he balanced the seven-ton craft on its one good wheel for 200 yards to check the speed The ship slumped on the right side where the landing wheel was buckled and the right wing tip caught the ground and spun the plane in a circle.

One propellor snapped off, and a great cloud of dust arose, but the passengers and crew stepped out unhurt as the fire engine and ambulance rushed up with sirens screaming.

The buckled landing wheel, due to a broken gear, had been noticed from the airport control tower as the plane took off for San Diego and word was radioed to the pilot.

Passengers were Mrs. A. D. Hawks, 80, San Diego; C. M. Powell, a San Francisco broker; H. L. McClinton, of New York; and W. Blackwood Murray of London. Crew members are Capt. MacKenzie, Co-Pilot Herb Richards, and Stewardess Adelaide Doane.

Within an hour the passengers were put aboard another plane for San Diego — even Mrs. Hawks, a grandmother, making her first flight.

Murray, an English civil engineer, said "I want to compliment American pilots on their ability. We were all-calm up there, and felt very normal due to the headwork of the stewardess."

U. S. Marine Sets New World Record As Sharpshooter

CAMP PERRY — (U.P.) — A 24-year-old private, first class, in the United States marine corps, today ruled the nation's long range sharpshooters. He was Alfred L. Wolters of Paola, Kans., who yesterday won the coveted Wimbledon cup match.

Wolters proved the sensation of the national rifle matches, outshooting 1938 riflemen and setting a new world record. Firing a course that required 20 shots at 1000 yards, he made a perfect numerical score of 100, with all of his shots going into the "V" ring.

After completing his 20 shots, he continued firing until his 28th hit went in the four ring. His official score was recorded as 100 with 27 "V" hits. The previous record for the match was 100 with 19 "V" hits.

The marine corps made a clean sweep of the first two places in the match when Platoon Sergeant Brook E. Clements equaled the former record of 19 "V's" for second place. Corporal Richard H. Gadd, 6th Engineers, scored a total of 100 with 18 "V" hits to take third.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN GURICK, 50

Former Ohio Brass Employe Lived in City for 35 Years.

John Gurick, 50, of 46 Cedar street, died in General hospital last night following an illness of several years. Mr. Gurick was born in Jugoslavia, Aug. 6, 1889, and had resided in this city 35 years. He was employed as a moulder at the Ohio Brass company until illness forced his retirement several years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Mary; four sons, John, Paul, George and Andrew; five daughters, Anna, Katherine, Irene, Evelyn and Mrs. Robert Morris of Mansfield, and three brothers.

Funeral services will be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 1 p. m. Saturday with Rev. J. E. Marshall of St. Mark's Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body is at the funeral home.

Up and Down THE STREET

George Bolesky, superintendent of sewer maintenance, had a set of "uppers" on hand today—the result of a discovery by city workers cleaning a sewer on Western avenue. They apparently belong to a woman, he adds, because they are small. In first class condition and of expensive type, the teeth will be returned to the owner—if she wants them—says Bolesky.

Leo Yuncker's hat started a "lid shower" at last night's ball game in Cleveland. In the ninth inning when the Indians tied the score, an exuberant member of the Mansfield party grabbed Yuncker's straw sailor and tossed it out on the field. It was "follow the leader" from that point, and hats of the straw variety started flying from every direction. Before the game ended spectators in the front rows at the stadium had quite a collection of lids which failed to reach the field.

A few additional steps for Little Johnny or Mary who will start to school this fall are beginning to assume large proportions for Mansfield parents as the opening of school approaches. Clerks in Supt. W. L. Miller's office said complaints are already coming in about Johnny and Mary having to walk a little farther to attend a different school than the boy or girl who lives just across the street. The dividing line between districts is usually in the middle of the street, but that's the way it has to be, even if it does add a little to Johnny's walk, the clerks said.

While Taylor Mast, 401 West Fifth street, who will take part in the parachute jumping at the National Air Races in Cleveland next week, isn't overlooking the substantial cash prizes that are being offered for each day's contest, he really is set on getting possession of the handsome trophy that will go to the jumper making the most points in three days. The money, he figures, will soon be spent, while the trophy would be a continual reminder of victory. Points in the contest will be given for "spot landings." About 50 jumpers will take part in the contests. Mast has been jumping for seven years.

TROOPS CLASH

Japs and Russians in Fierce Fighting on Border.

TOKYO—(U.P.)—Japanese and Russian troops are fighting fiercely and in considerable number on the Manchukuo-Outer Mongolia frontier, it was reported today. Casualties were said to be heavy and the result was not yet determined.

An authoritative informant said three Russian divisions were in Manchukuo territory and the Japanese were vigorously attempting to dislodge them.

The Russians were reported to be using new non-inflammable Diesel motored tanks.

The informant said that before August 20 the Russians had one division on the Khalka river front, on the Manchukuo side, but that on the night of the 20th two motorized divisions crossed the river and attacked the Japanese at Balshagal.

STICKS TO 'FAIR'

Weatherman Says Moderate Temperatures To Greet New Month.

Fair weather and moderate temperatures will usher in September, the first autumn month, Friday, the weatherman said today. The mercury is expected to be in the low 80's, about normal for late summer. It was 78 at noon today and reached a high of 82 yesterday.

A heavy fog enveloped the city this morning. Average temperature for the past 24 hours was 67, two below normal.

Columbus Politicos Wonder If Civil Service Commissioner Will Be Named Again.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Political circles wondered today if Ralph W. Emmons, a Republican whose third term as member of the civil service commission expired yesterday, would be replaced or reappointed.

There was no clue from Gov. John W. Bricker upon which to form any definite conclusion, the executive saying only that he had made no decision and indicating none would be made before next Wednesday when a civil service reorganization bill becomes effective—unless it is thwarted by a referendum.

The state Democratic organization combined with an organization of ex-state employes is circulating petitions in an attempt to secure some 144,000 signatures to put the Bricker administration's revised civil service law before voters in November.

The new act increases the commission membership from two to three and permits state department heads summarily to discharge provisional employes.

Democrats meeting here Sunday were presented with petitions bearing only 25,000 names, but leaders said today that a "hard last-week drive would put the referendum over. The necessary number of signatures must be filed before midnight next Tuesday.

RICHLAND AND VICINITY SCORE HEAVILY AGAIN AT STATE FAIR

Richland county cattle breeders and dairymen were priding themselves today on the honors which their entries won yesterday at the State fair, while the young people of this and surrounding counties made excellent showings in the junior fair.

Today is Governor's day at the annual event in Columbus and more than 50,000 persons had paid admissions up to noon today and officials believed the attendance today would top yesterday's figure of 53,895. Paid admissions during the first five days of the fair have totaled 192,216, an increase of 40,000 over last year.

Livestock judging, heavyweight horse pulling contests, harness racing, the governor's luncheon and the night horse racing were scheduled for today.

Maxwalton Farms, owned and operated by E. R. Hartman and Wallace Campbell, carried off 13 awards in the shorthorn classes, Raemelton Farms, owned by the Frank Black estate, with Otto C. Kline operating the cattle and dairy farms, won seven awards, while Carl H. Stander's entry won recognition in one classification.

Maxwalton Farms took honors in the following classes of shorthorns: junior yearling bulls, second prize; bull calves, third prize; group of three bulls, fourth; group of two bulls, fourth place; get of sire, second; pair of calves, second; pair of females, second and fifth prizes; bull and female, any age, fourth; bull calf futurity, first prize; futurity for shorthorn, first and third, and futurity for shorthorns pair, first and third.

Raemelton cattle took their honors with Guernsey stock. Their honors were Guernsey bull (four years and over), first prize; bull calf, first prize; junior champion reserve bull, first prize; cow, 5 years and over, fifth prize; heifer calf, second prize; dairy herd, third prize; junior get of sire under 2 years, third prize; get of sire, second prize.

Stander's entry was fourth in the futurity for shorthorns, and C. B. Heifner and Son, Ashland, won first prize in the Guernsey contest for cows 18 months to 2 years.

In the junior fair displays, which attracted hundreds of entries from all over the state, one Mansfielder took two honors; Galen S. Cocanour, winning sixth prize with his entry in the Berkshire gilt swine class and sixth in the Berkshire boar class.

The two Shinnaberry boys, Marvin and Derwin, of Fredericktown, in Knox county, will have enough ribbons to "paper" their rooms as the result of taking 26 awards between them. Marvin scored in the following classes:

Delano Merino ewe lamb, second prize; Delano Merino ram lamb, sixth and 13th places; Delano Merino ewe yearling, first and third places; Delano Merino ram yearling, first and sixth places; Delano Merino champion ewe and ram, first prize; any other breed of ewe lamb, first and third; any other breed of ram lamb, first and fourth; any other breed ewe yearling, first and third; any other breed ram yearling, second and fourth.

Derwin Shinnaberry's awards, all in the Hampshire sheep classes, were: ewe lamb, first and second; ram lamb, third and fourth prizes; ewe yearling, first and second; ram yearling, first; champion ewe, first prize; special ewe, between 1 and 2 years old, first prize; special ewe lamb under a year old, first prize.

MRS. CAMERON STRICKEN AT 74

Widow, Resident Here 68 Years, Dies After Long Illness.

Mrs. Agnes Bettie Cameron, 74, of 286 East First street, died in Thomas hospital today after an illness of several years. Born in Berlin, Germany, April 21, 1865, Mrs. Cameron came to Mansfield at the age of six. She was a member of the St. John's Evangelical church.

Surviving are two sons, Albert C. and E. A. Cameron; a daughter, Mrs. Elmer Floro; a sister, Mrs. Helen McClellan of Mansfield, and five grandchildren. She was the widow of Alexander Cameron.

Services will be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 3:30 p. m. Saturday with Rev. Martin Wappner, Ohio State reformatory chaplain, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

BABY BOY DIES

ANKENYTOWN — Funeral services for Charles J Harris, 9-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight M. Harris, who died yesterday after an illness of a few days, were held this afternoon at the Church of the Brethren. In addition to the parents, a brother, Kenneth, and a sister, Emma Jean, survive. Burial was in Ankenytown cemetery.

'NEW EVIDENCE' FOUND AGAINST LEADER, CLAIM

Immigration Official Says Kuhn Had Police Record and 'Lied' About It.

(By International News Service)

ANGEL ISLAND, Cal.—As soon as the government finishes the Harry Bridges case, it will direct its biggest guns on Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German-American bund, it was learned today by International News Service.

In an exclusive interview, Chief Deputy U. S. Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization Thomas B. Shoemaker disclosed his agents had uncovered some "new and important evidence" against Kuhn.

"Kuhn, a naturalized American citizen, has been under secret investigation of our department for nearly two years," Shoemaker related.

"The preliminary evidence discloses that he withheld certain information from us when he obtained his citizenship papers. If we get sufficient data, we plan to seek cancellation of his citizenship."

Shoemaker disclosed that his investigators had found that "Kuhn had a police record in Germany before coming to the United States."

"Kuhn withheld that information from us when he applied for citizenship here," Shoemaker said. "And that is ground for cancelling his citizenship papers."

Shoemaker declared his department was "having great difficulty" in obtaining certain documentary evidence from Germany that is needed in the prospective case against Kuhn. However, he expressed belief that the evidence may be forthcoming shortly from the United States embassy at Berlin.

8 REGISTRARS

Driving License Agents for Richland County Named.

Eight deputy registrars in Richland county were named today to handle to sale of drivers licenses, dispatches from Columbus said today.

They are: Frank Beverstock, Richland County Auto club, Mansfield; Ellen Bowers, Bellville; D. A. Spayde, Butler; Mrs. Emma Chamberlin, Lucas; Lee C. Henry, Olivesburg; Clarence M. Irvin, Plymouth, W. R. Morris, Shelby, and George Page, Shiloh.

Driving licenses will go on sale Sept. 5, and all drivers must have them by Oct. 1. A new regulation this year requires that 1939 licenses be presented when 1940 licenses are applied for. Prices remain the same—25 cents for ordinary licenses and 75 cents for chauffeur's licenses, with a deputy's fee of 15 cents in addition.

GIRLS ATTACKED

Abducted On Way Home From Dance at Russell's Point.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The state highway patrol directed a search today for two men who abducted two young women at gunpoint and attacked them, near Russell's Point, Indian Lake, about 12:30 a. m.

The women, aged 25 and 23, were from Cincinnati and had been staying at a resort cottage. They were returning from a dance by foot when accosted.

FAIR ENOUGH!

From Watching Changing World Scene You Get the Idea the World Is Crazy

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The earth-shaking or hell-raising developments of the last week prompt the disquieting thought that the whole world is crazy or that, at the very best, the nations thereof are as flighty, inconsistent and shallow as any sewing circle.

Naturally, Americans pursed their lips and blew a vulgar note at the Nazis and Bolos when those two cats made up their quarrel and thereby confirmed the old contention that all that either one had ever said of the other not only was true but wasn't the half of it.

But then it became apparent that by falling in with Stalin, Hitler automatically fell out with Japan, and that has made or will make a difference to the British, and, no doubt, to the U. S. A.

Already the Japanese have desisted from their rude custom of stripping the pants off purplish English civilians of both sexes and have taken to tearing down the detestable Swastika which once so fondly they hailed. It is not unlikely that the Japanese soldiers will presently start divesting the Germans, to the raucous amusement of the scratchy classes.

And the Japanese nation, by the simple act of tossing out one cabinet and selecting a moderate soldier have repudiated their policy of stealing the British pants and are now proceeding on a program of conciliation and understanding with the British and us. It would seem unthinkable, if we didn't know enough about nations to know that it can be true, that Britain ever could forgive the humiliation that was done her by the irresponsible, of course, acts of the Japanese sergeants.

But, remembering that nations and peoples easily forgive and forget episodes in which they slay one another by the hundreds of thousands, one must admit that the regrettable affairs of the Englishmen's and ladies' pants is no permanent bar to a healthy and mutually respectful understanding.

The retiring prime minister of Japan said merely and blandly that in view of the perfidious deal between Hitler and Stalin the Japanese government must abandon its old policy, create a new one based on new ideas, and renovate the public mind.

In simpler words, he found that he had been taking liberties with the wrong britches—a revision of eternal truth which doubtless will be followed by a declaration from Berlin that the Japanese are not oriental aryans, after all, but oriental Jews, as witness the name of their new prime minister, Nobuyuki Abe.

It was only within the last year or two that the docile Boche, already stupefied by much learning that warred with his knowledge and sense, was informed of the enternal truth that the Japanese were Oriental Aryans.

But eternity itself is the creation and gift of the greasy corporal, and he that giveth also taketh away. And not long before that the Boche had learned that the Italians were an inferior order of cattle because, der Fuehrer said, persons having short legs, dark complexion and hooked noses—a good police description of the Italian king-emperor—were non-Aryan and likely either Jewish or a wee mite colored.

This he had to unlearn between one edition and another of the Beobachter. An eternal truth shot to hell is a finger-snap when Hitler and the Duce made their deal and Mussolini made long-legged, fair-haired, blue-eyed Aryans of his Neapolitans and Sicilians by a simple fiat of his inflexible will.

Ludicrous indeed are the antics, mental and military, of the faceless peoples of the earth, but given a brief lapse of time and a turn of politics and war, the Americans might yet come to view with alarm a China militarized and organized by the Soviet and turned against the dirty American capitalistic exploiters. In that case the American nation, too, might enact a change of policy friendly to Japan and the American mind be sent to the cleaners for renovation.

The discomfort of the French and American Bolos is no less a delight than that of the Nazified French and Americans, who are few in number and short on sense. The Bolos claim Stalin did nothing wrong, but blame Britain and France for forcing him to do it, as though the super-man of the super-state needed forcing to do the right thing.

And the Nazis aren't on speaking terms with themselves, because obviously it were treason to the Reich to have any doings whatever with persons having doings with Russian Bolshevism, which plainly includes them.

Lest we be unduly pleased by their anguish, however, and by our own consistent purity, we may imagine what satisfaction would have warmed our own hypocritical little soul had the Soviet made this deal with the allies instead of with Hitler. At this point confusion sets in.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—While movie actors were talking strike and labor troubles, the hero of the screen's first one-man strike was working on a sound stage for $11 a day.

That's what Maurice Costello, the screen's first big star and matinee idol, was glad to be getting for serving as "dress atmosphere" on "The Roaring Twenties," a film starring James Cagney, who wasn't even born when Costello was already an established stage actor.

Costello, a hearty old fellow with a mop of curly hair and a face oddly reminiscent of his ex-son-in-law, John Barrymore, told about his one-man strike with a chuckle.

"In those early days, the actors were supposed to double as scenery-movers, prop-men, furniture-makers, cooks and odd-job men," he said. "I was making $30 a week as an actor—a star. They asked me to join in the chores, and I put my foot down. Said I'd be glad to carry a tray, or anything they wanted, to earn my pay, but if I was earning it as an actor, why, then I'd act and they could give the other jobs to other men."

His eyes wandered over the set, teeming with a staff of electricians, prop-men, assistants, wardrobe-workers, hair-dressers, and all the other behind-the-camera people so essential to movie-making.

"I like to think," he said, "that I started, in a sense, the jobs of all those people."

But $11 a day, Mr. Costello?

"Call me Maurice, he chided. "It keeps me sheltered, clothed, and fed—and I'm learning more about this business, having come in the back door this way, than I ever knew as a star. It gives me something to do, besides. Better than moping my time away alone—I'm meeting new people, and some of the oldtimers, too. For a long time I hung back, figured Hollywood had forgotten me, didn't care enough to seek me out. Then I realized that I'd have to do the seeking, and I got myself a Guild card, registered at Central Casting, and waited. My work here may never bring me back what I once had—if it does, I'd like it. If it doesn't—well, I can do without it.

Costello is still estranged from Dolores, his daughter and Barrymore's ex-wife; for Helene, Dolores' sister, now ill in a northern sanitarium, he says he "prays every night." . . . The old man looks a bit startled, however, every time he sees Priscilla Lane, also in the picture. Bystanders note the resemblance Priscilla's "Roaring Twenties" coiffure gives her to—Dolores Costello.

Susan Asks About Summer Love

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

While on my vacation this summer I met a boy of 21 and fell in love with him. I'm 19. We went around together for the two months I was there, and when I left we parted as lovers, saying we would correspond. In fact, he asked me to write to him, which I did.

The first four letters he answered promptly, and then all of a sudden he stopped writing Now, I don't know whether to write again or not. I thought I might send him a picture postcard from my home town, as a sort of gentle hint that I want to hear. Do you think that would be all right? I do want to keep in touch with him.

It will be quite all right to send him a postcard from your home town, if you care to But if he doesn't acknowledge this gesture, better let the matter drop. It isn't wise to allow too much neglect on the part of a boy friend The girl who is independent is more sought after than the "doormat" type.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Occasionally we have clandestine meetings, and she tells me she would give the world to be with me. But her parents and her husband feel that she is timid and weak-willed, and each time I convince her that she should leave him and marry me, they cause her to lose the courage of her convictions, and humiliate her with wrathful threats.

She could easily get a divorce if she had the courage. She doesn't love her husband. Should I continue to try to win her, or should I carry on our friendship without a thought of marriage, or should I leave her and stand the heartbreak that would be inevitable?

W.

There are a good many things you have left out of this letter and which I should like to know. How old are you and this married girl with whom you are in love? Are there any children, whose home would be broken if she should get a divorce? Are there any grounds for her parents' contention that she is weak-willed and unstable? Divorces are sometimes necessary, even as surgical operations are necessary.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I paused for a second before answering my father's query as to the chances of getting Philip Veritzen down to the Greenwich Village apartment to see my father, without revealing the identity of the person who wished to see him.

"I am fairly sure he will come down," I said. "What hour do you wish the appointment?"

"The very first moment it is possible for him to get down here," my father replied. "We have much to do today. But wait! I have a better plan."

Madge Needed.

Lillian came back almost as he finished, and he addressed her directly.

"Is there anything for which you need Margaret now?" he asked.

She looked at him quizzically.

"Yes, there is," she said. "She is the only person who can keep you in anything even resembling order. I can see that we'll both have to bow to your decision to go out to the farm, but I'm counting on her to insist that we take a physician and a nurse along with us. We're neither of us going to take the responsibility of you otherwise."

My father frowned portentously.

"What utter nonsense!" he began, but I sprung up and put my arms closely about his neck.

Madge Pleads.

"Father, darling," I pleaded. "Don't grieve me so sorely. I have so many things just now to worry me that it seems as though I couldn't bear a single extra anxiety. It's awful to think of your leaving here at all when you're so weak, but I think I could bear it better if you had skilled attention on your journey and after you reach the farm."

He drew me close to him, and his voice was tenderly indulgent when he answered me.

"Suppose we compromise," he said. "Katharine is at the farm, isn't she? Can't she give me the very slight attention I shall need?"

Lillian gave me a little signal which meant, "Go ahead! I'm keeping out of this."

"It isn't slight attention you ought to have, darling," I told him, "but almost constant care. And, under present conditions out there, I frankly do not like to have Katharine relax any whit of her constant watch over the children."

"You are right there," he admitted, "but—where—we don't want to introduce a strange nurse down there."

"If Noel is well enough for Mary to leave him," I said. "Miss Whitlock could go with us."

"Miss Witlock would be safe," he said judicially "Well then, if Mary can leave Noel, and I can persuade Mr. Veritzen to let her go—I am confident of that last—I will submit to Miss Whitlock's ministrations. Is that satisfactory?"

"Not a bit," I told him "There are too many 'ifs' in it But it will have to do, I suppose. And I shall make it my job to see that Mary goes with us."

"Good! And you will have an opportunity to see her almost at once," he said, and smiled at Lillian.

"Now that she has 'managed' me," he said, "is there any other reason why she cannot go back to the hotel now?"

Has No Objection.

"Not a reason in the world," she answered promptly "But, of course, she must go in the armored car."

"That certainly," he rejoined. "Then my dear"—he turned back to me—"you are hereby appointed ambassador to the Veritzen menage. First see that Philip Veritzen comes down here as soon as he possibly can; have the armored car wait for him and bring him down here. Then do your best to get Mary and Miss Whitlock away. And will you also get ready so that we can start for the east end of the island as soon as possible? I know you are always in marching order, Lillian, but you might as well know, I shall want you to come with us"

Crabmeat Adaptable Sea Food

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

If you are addicted to canned crabmeat, you can make a wide variety of swell dishes, the sort that lend quite an air to any meal A few cans of crabmeat, salmon and sardines on the emergency shelf, together with what is generally to be found in the icebox, sees to it that there is no need to blush at provender whisked together for the unexpected guest.

Cheese With Crabmeat.

Crabmeat Rissoti comes first, made with one six and one-half ounce can crabmeat, one cup rice, three-quarters cup grated American cheese, one eggplant (diced), three cups thin white sauce, one-quarter cup sliced mushrooms, salt and pepper Boil rice until soft. Cool slightly and beat one-half cup grated cheese into the rice. Season to taste. Pack in buttered ring mold and let stand in hot water for 10 minutes. Unmold in buttered baking dish. Soak eggplant in cold salted water for two hours. Drain. Prepare white sauce in double boiler; add diced eggplant and cook slowly until tender. Add sliced mushrooms, boned and flaked crabmeat and seasoning to taste. Mix well. Pour mixture into center of rice mold. Sprinkle crabmeat mixture with one-quarter cup grated cheese and bake in 350° F. oven until top is brown. Serve in baking dish. Serves six as will each of the following crabmeat recipes.

Deep Sea Crabsies.

Deep Sea Crabsies are made with one six and one-half ounce can crabmeat and 12 cubes of bread. Cut bread in 1½ inch cubes. Make a hole in each cube and fill with crabmeat, boned and flaked. Dip cubes in a mixture made by beating together one cup grated cheese, two eggs, two tablespoons milk, salt and pepper. Sprinkle grated cheese on top of cubes and bake in hot oven (425° F.) for fifteen minutes until brown.

Crabmeat and Corn.

For another luncheon or supper dish, line up one six and one-half ounce car crabmeat, two tablespoons butter, one chopped onion, two chopped green peppers, one can corn, one cup cream, one teaspoon salt, few grains of cayenne pepper, one egg yolk, toast or crackers. Cook chopped onion and peppers in butter until soft. Add corn, cream, salt and cayenne. When mixture is hot, add boned and flaked crabmeat and then the beaten egg yolk. Cook until thick. Serve on toast or crackers.

Crabmeat Bacon Rolls take two cans crabmeat, two eggs, one cup tomato juice, two cups bread crumbs, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon each chopped celery and celery leaves, and six strips of bacon. Beat eggs, add tomato juice, mix together. Then add bread crumbs, salt, pepper, chopped parsley and celery and boned, flaked crabmeat. Mix thoroughly. Roll into finger lengths. Wrap each roll with strip of bacon fastened with a toothpick. Broil; brown evenly.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, September 1.

VERY auspicious auguries govern this day, with promise of a decided advance in the direction of fulfilled ambitions Steady progress will be made under the spur of drastic action. But be wary of financial entanglements threatening litigation. Also shun quarrels, excesses in expenditures and indulgences.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of fulfilled ambitions, with gratification of cherished hopes and wishes. Steer clear of financial affairs that may involve litigation. Refrain from quarrels and excessive indulgences.

A child born on this day may be vigorous, energetic and ambitious, forging its way ahead by drastic action. Early discipline might tone down an over-enthusiastic quality.

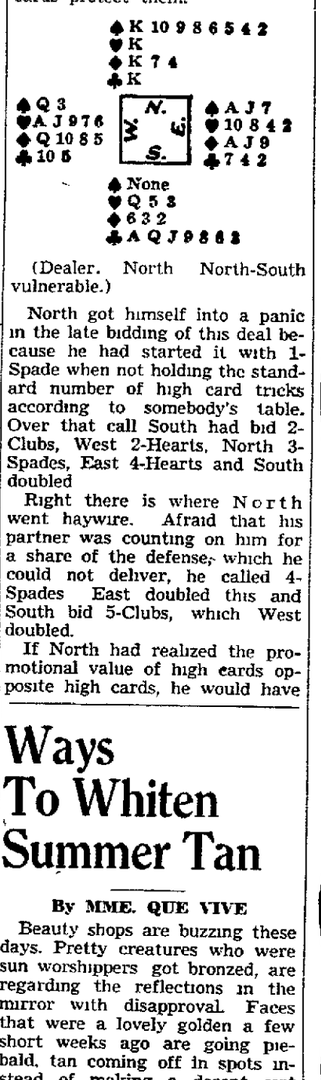
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

PROMOTING YOUR CARDS

If your partner's bidding shows him possessing a bit of high card strength, any fairly high ones, such as kings and queens, assume a much greater value in your hand, even if they are singletons, because of two factors. In the first place, their possession protects your partner's cards, and in the second place, your partner's cards protect them.



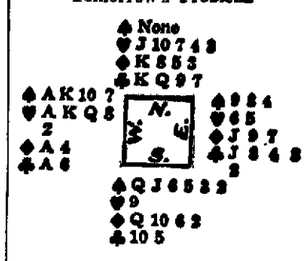
(Dealer. North North-South vulnerable.)

North got himself into a panic in the late bidding of this deal because he had started it with 1-Spade when not holding the standard number of high card tricks according to somebody's table. Over that call South had bid 2-Clubs, West 2-Hearts, North 3-Spades, East 4-Hearts and South doubled

Right there is where North went haywire. Afraid that his partner was counting on him for a share of the defense, which he could not deliver, he called 4-Spades East doubled this and South bid 5-Clubs, which West doubled.

If North had realized the promotional value of high cards opposite high cards, he would have left in the double of 4-Hearts and the contract would have been lambasted.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

Why are the strong cards a liability on this deal instead of an asset?

Ways To Whiten Summer Tan

By MME. QUE VIVE

Beauty shops are buzzing these days. Pretty creatures who were sun worshippers got bronzed, are regarding the reflections in the mirror with disapproval. Faces that were a lovely golden a few short weeks ago are going piebald, tan coming off in spots instead of making a decent exit from the cutaneous premises. Arms and hands are in a bad way as far as color is concerned. It is time now to start reconditioning treatments.

Skin scales come and go. Old ones die, new one are born. When conditions are normal there is no evidence of this shedding process. After exposure to strong sunlight for a long period there may be a desquamation that produces roughness of surface. It isn't nice and it isn't pretty. Powder has a plastered look because of excessive dryness, rouge doesn't take on that modest simulation of the national blush, which rouge is supposed to do. In the summer season faces are bound to get more or less weathered. They are entitled to more than the usual amount of coddling.

Bleaches don't change the color of the skin; they merely hustle off discolored scales so the fresh new ones can appear more quickly.

There was a time when women went in for skin peeling, used strong bleaches that often produced inflammation. It was not unusual for a woman to go into retirement for several weeks while she flayed her face. A lot of water has run under the beauty bridge since then and we don't take such chances

Lemon juice is a good old fashioned whitener: it cannot possibly do any harm. It should not be applied immediately after the face has been subjected to soap and water.

A gentle steaming will tend to loosen discolored skin scales. While steaming is not recommended for flesh that has wrinkled, it is an excellent treatment for a fresh young face, especially if blackheads and pimples are present.

Dip a heavy washcloth in fairly hot water, wring it out slightly, hold tight to the face. Make half a dozen applications. Dry thoroughly with little upward pats of the towel. Get out the old cold cream jar, do gentle tapping movements to force the oil into the flesh. Then, with flattened finger tips, do little circles. That treatment helps to rid the skin of epidermal debris so that cutaneous discolorations will evaporate.
